HANDSOME JACK KLUTAS KILLED; GANG CAPTURED

HUGE MIDWEST KIDNAP GROUP IS ROUNDED UP

Gangsters Collected Large Sums From Victims, Claim

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—"Handsome Jack" Klutas, leader of a huge midwest kidnap band, was shot and killed in a police trap today at an apartment where he had been living under the guise of a secret service operative.

Five members of the gang were apprehended and taken to headquarters from suburban Bellwood where the trap was laid.

Klutas fell in a barrage of police bullets when he attempted to dash to freedom from the apartment. The apartment had been under the surveillance of state's attorney's police for ten days.

Today police received definite word that Klutas was in the apartment. A squad under Police Lieutenant Frank Johnson went to the house and first arrested two men, who, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney said, revealed details of the gang leaders hideout.

Leader Killed

Other members of the squad deployed about the building. Finally, Klutas and two others came out. Johnson yelled at him to surrender. In reply, Klutas' pistol barked.

Johnson's squad opened fire and Klutas fell with bullets splattered through his body.

Inside the place police found a quantity of tear gas bombs, weapons and other materials used by the gang.

The slaying of Klutas climaxed a seven year search for the former University of Illinois student who left the campus to head the notorious "collegiate band," named in nearly a dozen kidnapings and extortions which netted more than a half million dollars.

Melvin H. Purvis, head of the local office of the United States bureau of investigation, described Klutas and his henchmen as the "smartest" gangsters in the nation.

Recent reports current in underworld circles said that "Handsome Jack" had undergone operations on his face and had portions of the skin of his fingers obliterated in efforts to elude capture and identification.

Three members of the gang are due to appear in court next week for their alleged participation in the abduction of James Hackett, Blue Island gambler.

Another supposed member of the gang, Russell Hughes, was slain two months ago in Peoria, Ill., Klutas original home. One policeman was slain as Hughes sought to evade arrest.

The shooting of Klutas occurred directly across the street from the home

Mary L. Milano Famous Concert Singer, Suicides

St. Louis, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Reduced to poverty after an apparently successful operatic concert and stage career, Mrs. Mary Louise Milano, 52, shot and killed herself today in her rented room in suburban Richmond Heights.

A note, written on brown wrapping paper, stated: "I am blue and desperate. I feel I am going crazy. Turn my body over to the city." On a table near-by, police found scores of newspaper clippings and programs collected many years ago when her career was at its peak.

Three pawn tickets, issued in 1931 and 1932 for a diamond ring and scarf pins gave evidence of Mrs. Milano's financial troubles.

One clipping showed the singer, then Mary Louise Wilkins, was married to Rafiaele Adinoffi Milano in Oklahoma City. Another told of their divorce. Mrs. Milano was a member of the famous La Scala opera company for two years.

MAY GUARANTEE FARM AND HOME LOANS, CLAIM

Believe Bonds Would Be Made More Attractive

By Elton C. Fay
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Administration spokesmen explained today that a two-fold purpose lay back of the plan of the government to guarantee both the principal and interest of farm and home loan bonds.

Such a plan was outlined yesterday and measures to carry it out will be introduced next week.

The administration explained of the reason for the government guaranteeing the $4,000,000,000 of bonds was:

To check a tendency toward heavy discounting when the bonds appear on the open market.

To make them more attractive—in the words of the spokesmen, "to give any 'doubting Thomases' a flat, unconditional guarantee."

These in turn, it was pointed out, would offset any tendency toward slow sale of the bond issues.

At present the interest only and not the principal is guaranteed by the government, but officials said that in view of the fact that the bonds guaranteed interest "until paid" they were backed by a virtually perpetual guarantee.

Word that President Roosevelt desired legislation to guarantee the principal of the bonds produced some surprise on the part of congressional leaders, who said they did not see the necessity for a guarantee but that if the president desired it, it would be done.

Chairman Steagall of the House Banking committee was one of these, saying that "if a man is given the choice between foreclosing on a house he can't sell or taking the bonds on which the government guarantees the interest, he isn't going to hesitate long."

A member of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, William F. Stevenson, recently said his organization was experiencing no difficulty in selling the bonds.

92 PRISONERS SEEK PAROLES

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Ninety-two petitions for executive clemency will be considered by the state board of pardons at its January meeting Tuesday.

Among the petitioners are Amante Rongetti of Chicago, convicted of manslaughter, and Joseph Pursifull of Peoria, who is serving a five year sentence in Joliet for kidnaping for ransom. Rongetti is serving a federal sentence and has not yet started his term in Joliet.

Twenty of the applicants are under sentence for murder, two for rape, four for larceny, three for assault, and one for kidnaping.

Applications for 59 prisoners convicted under the old ten-to-life law for robbery while armed will be heard. They seek conditional pardons. The statute under which they were convicted was altered in 1927 to make the sentence from one year to life. They are not eligible for parole until the minimum sentence has been served.

FIND WHISKEY STILL

Marion, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Ray Hedges and Estelle Guersion, who officers alleged were operating a whisky still, were arrested near Dwina today by deputy sheriff Dalton Murray and chief of police Huzzie Byrn of Johnston City.

Officers said it was the first still found in the county since prohibition repeal.

INVITED TO MEETING

The Rebekah Lodge of Murrayville have invited the Caritas Rebekah Lodge, No. 625 of Jacksonville, to attend their installation of officers on Tuesday evening, January 9.

W. UNDERHILL IS REMOVED TO STATE PRISON

Officers Feared An Attack From His Friends

BULLETIN

Mcalester, Okla., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Wilbur Underhill, southwestern desperado, died in State's penitentiary at 11:42 o'clock tonight of bullet wounds.

McAlester, Okla., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Beating gangdom to the draw, federal officers bundled Wilbur Underhill, bullet-scarred outlaw, into an ambulance form his Shawnee hospital bed today; and rushed him 70 miles to the familiar walls of state's prison here.

"I'm ready to come back home," the outlaw ironically told Warden Sambrown as his stretcher was carried into the games of the prison, from which he escaped in 1931.

Feared Attack

From Washington, the United States bureau of investigation announced the transfer was ordered because of rumors that gangsters were planning to deliver the "tri-state terror."

As the ambulance and its two-car escort approached the east gate of the prison, an unidentified cabin plane, flying low, caused apprehension among prison guards.

However, it disappeared quickly and did not attempt a landing here.

Prison officers said the plane seemed to be "scouting" the highway in close proximity to the prison.

Warden Brown said it was his understanding that Underhill was being turned over to Oklahoma to complete his life sentence for the killing of an Okmulgee clerk in a holdup.

Since his capture he had been in federal custody being wanted on a federal indictment in connection with the slaughter of four officers and their federal prisoner, Frank Nash, in an attempt to free Nash at the Kansas City union station last June.

Underhill was sprayed with 13 bullets a week ago today when federal and state officers raided his Shawnee hide-out. One of his companions, Eva Mae Nichols, plump beauty parlor attendant, was fatally wounded. Underhill's wife and another man also were captured.

A marked improvement in the outlaw's condition brought a quick decision today to bring him to McAlester. He was able to take nourishment and could talk with less difficulty.

The trip consumed 2½ hours and after it was over the officers said Underhill "stood it fairly well." Prison hospital attendants added that they believed he would recover, barring a relapse.

Underhill, who with Harvey Bailey, convicted Urschel kidnaper, led the 11 convicts who escaped from Kansas state prison at Lansing Memorial Day, has confessed a half dozen bank robberies since he was caught at Shawnee, but has denied the Kansas City killings.

He said goodbye at Shawnee to his mother, Mrs. Almire Underhill of Kansas City, and his sister, Dorothy.

FRANK J. FLYNN IS ELECTED HEAD OF FARM BUREAU

Annual Election of Officers Takes Place in City Saturday

Frank J. Flynn of Woodson was elected president of the Morgan County Farm Bureau at the meeting ing of the directors here Saturday. Mr. Flynn succeeds F. J. Scholfield of Lynnville. Roy Burrus was elected vice-president and Wallace Hembrough secretary.

New members in attendance at the meeting included F. H. Rolf, C. D. Ransdell, J. A. Brown and Allen Smith. Others in attendance at the meeting included Directors F. J. Scholfield, C. O. Nickel, Charles Korsmeyer, Roy VanGundy, Wilbur Williams, E. E. Hart, E. G. Reynolds, F. A. Seymour and Edgar Spires.

David R. Reynolds of Woodson made a report of a membership campaign at yesterday's meeting, and Charles S. Black, director of the Illinois Agricultural Association, gave a summary of the annual meeting which will be held in Danville January 23, 24, 25 and 26. Plans for sending delegates to the convention were discussed. Mr. Black also announced that a district meeting of the I. A. A. will be held at the Peacock Inn Monday. The observance of Farm and Home week January 15 to 19 at the University of Illinois was also discussed.

Reports were made at the meeting by L. T. Oxley of the insurance department; Claude Jewsbury of the oil department and Farm Adviser I. E. Parett.

MURDER HEARING IS POSTPONED

Pana, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—A preliminary hearing for Rex Guinnee, 23, charged with murder in the slaying of Lee Sarple, 26, widely known semi-professional and former McKendree College football player, schedule for this afternoon, was continued because officers said it was "inadvisable" to bring the defendant here.

Guinnee stabbed to death Sarple on a downtown street here New Year's eve, and since has been held in jail at Taylorville.

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The senate agriculture committee today gave its approval to the lending by the government of another $100,000,000 under a similar arrangement to that by which cotton and corn producers already have borrowed $150,000,000.

It agreed to a bill by Chairman Smith under which he said the radius of seasonal government aid to agriculture would be greatly increased.

Cotton and corn producers, officials estimated to date, already have borrowed approximately $150,000,000 from the Commodity Credit corporation. It is letting cotton producers have ten cents a pound on their staples and corn growers 45 cents a bushel.

Should the price of the commodities remain below the loan figures, the government stands the loss. If it rises above, the farmers may pay off the loan, sell and deep the profit. The corn loans are due against August 1 and the cotton loans July 1.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has made direct loans of $15,000,000 on corn December 30 but supplemental loans, principally by banks have brought this total to around $50,000,000 or more.

On January 3, cotton loans by the Credit Corporation, itself, were $52,000,000 but it was estimated that bank loans would bring this figure to $100,000,000 if not considerably more in this case also.

Banks are cooperating with the Credit Corporation since they do so at no risk to themselves and their aid facilities the work of meeting producer demands.

Farm administration officials pointed out that a loan prerequisite was that borrowers agree to join in the 1934 cotton and corn reduction program. This insures that thousands of producers will take part in the campaigns to reduce cotton acreage this year by 40 per cent and corn by 20 per cent.

The Reconstruction Corporation gave the credit agency $150,000,000 for the corn loans and $25,000,000 for cotton. Not all this money will be used, officials say, the final figure for cotton being placed at around $150,000,000. A sizeable portion of the corn fund also is expected to be left over, although experts were chary of any prediction as to this residue.

The first corn loans were made in Iowa on November 23. Corn certificate for borrowing in that state has reached the sum of $23,000,000. Corn loans are being made now at the rate of over 100,000 daily, but the loan period is to end on March 1.

Regardless of the final result of the experiment, farm officials credit a good deal of southern recovery to the plan and they asserted also that it had made the middle west think less about hard times.

The corn loans are being made only in those areas where corn surpluses are produced and in states that have acceptable farm warehouse acts in most instances. Satisfactory states were lacking, officials said, in Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, but some loans are being made there on shelled corn.

State in which the entire areas are eligible for the corn loans include Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Kansas. States where loans are made only in certain counties—those which produce surpluses—are Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and Colorado.

Material changes in regulations are not expected although action to change collateral requirements in Indiana to facilitate lending there probably will come within the next few days.

MILK EMBARGO IS TIGHTENING ABOUT CHICAGO

Thousands Of Gallons Dumped On Roads By Strikers

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A milk embargo, marked by violence and threatening the city's comfort and health, tightened down around Chicago tonight as 18,000 angry farmers picketed highways and defied their neighbors to attempt delivering milk.

Chicago and scores of towns surrounding it in a radius of 100 miles were menaced with a milk shortage by Monday. In some of the towns, dairy companies announced they would be able to make no Sunday deliveries.

Thousands of gallons of milk were dumped on highways today, and countless farmers in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana refrained from marketing their milk, or were restrained by neighbors from doing so.

Even the big dairy companies of Chicago admitted their supplies had been cut down seriously. An official of the Pure Milk association, organization of farmers which called the strike, declared Chicago received "far less than 20 per cent" of its normal supply today.

Only dairies supplying hospitals and other institutions were allowed to obtain their quotas from farmers. Steps were being taken, also, to assure infants receiving adequate supplies.

The Wisconsin cooperative milk pool instigator of strikes of its own not long ago announced it would fight the strike by shipping milk into Chicago, but officials of the PMA said they doubted if such action would have any serious effect on the strike.

There was an attitude of "let them try it" among PMA officials, but all of them denied any intention of recommending violence. They insisted the strike consisted only of association members withholding their produce. Nevertheless a number of dairy trucks supplying independent shops in Chicago were stopped and their cargo dumped at the roadsides.

An added complication came in an announcement that the Milk Wagon Drivers' Union of Chicago might call a strike against wage cuts of from $5 to $8.50 a week demanded by the big dairies. A strike vote will be taken Wednesday.

Leslie G. Goudie, negotiating with the dairies for the union, said he believed the companies had been unfair to both the farmers and the drivers, that the farmers had been willing to accept a cut in their price, but that the dairies wanted them to assume too much of the burden in reducing prices.

Officials of the PMA, however, placed blame for the strike squarely on the shoulders of small, independent dairies (not members of the Chicago milk council) which sold on a cut rate cash-and-carry basis and refused to abide by the milk marketing agreement reached last summer under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Price cutting by the independents, according to Don N. Geyer, general manager of the association, forced the PMA to withdraw from the agreement to save the market from non-member producers and "wildcat" distributors.

The real purpose of the strike, PMA officials indicated, was to obtain enactment of a milk code which would license all dealers and force them to pay minimum prices, probably of $2.10 per hundred pounds, to farmers.

ALICE PHILLIPS DIES

W. K. BILLINGS AGAIN DENIED HIS FREEDOM

Board Claims it Cannot Pass On Guilt or Innocence of Prisoner

Folsom Prison, Cal., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The parole application of Warren K Billings, who was convicted with Thomas J. Mooney for bombing the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day parade, was denied today by the state board of prison terms and paroles.

The board issued a prepared statement concluding with the words:

"Because of his past criminal record and the gravity of his offense, this board believes the application for parole should not be granted at this time."

The board's statement said:

"The law does not permit this board to pass upon the guilt or innocence of any prisoner. This is determined by the courts.

"When deciding applications for parole, we take into consideration among other things the past life, criminal record, prison conduct and industry and the prospects of rehabilitation of the prisoner, together with the seriousness of the offense.

"Billings is a second-term prisoner and was active in anti-social activities. He was once convicted of transporting dynamite for sabotage and in the present instance stands convicted of murder in first degree which caused the death of ten persons and the maiming of many more.

ATTEND ROCHESTER MEET

Mrs. A. J. Haney, 325 South Church street and Mr. and Mrs. John Coe of Winchester attended the festivities of the 20th anniversary of the Eastern Star of Rochester held last week. Mrs. Haney and Mrs. Coe are charter officers of the lodge and were guests of honor at a banquet given for the charter members in the Masonic Temple. The installing officers of 20 years ago of the Flower City Chapter of Springfield were also special guests at this banquet at which about two hundred and fifty people attended.

LIQUOR BILL AMENDMENTS NUMBER 200

House Measure Overhauled By The Senate

By Milburn P. Akers,

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Legislators and others are anxiously awaiting the outcome of efforts to engross the liquor control bill on which the Senate is expected to act next week.

The bill, a House measure, has been so changed by senatorial amendments—nearly 200 amendments were offered and an undetermined number adopted—that none has been found who claims he knows exactly what it contains.

Ordinarily no efforts to engross the bill would be made until after it was advanced from second (the amendment stage) to third reading, the passage stage.

After all amendments have been acted upon the engrossing, which consists of making a copy of the bill with the various amendments written in the proper places, takes place. This gives the legislative body concerned a true copy of the bill on which it is to act when it is up for passage.

So numerous are the amendments already adopted, and so many the textual changes made, however, that the legislative reference bureau and the enrolling and engrossing clerks of the Senate are now engaged in an effort to "put the bill together."

Some 15 amendments remain to be acted upon when the Senate returns Tuesday. It is expected the bill will be ready for a final vote Wednesday.

The liquor bill has been amended more by the Senate than any other measure in the memory of any of the oldest members.

There have been numerous amendments to the amendments. An examination of those adopted evidences numerous inconsistencies, some structural defects, cases of misnumbering and mislettering of sections, and other errors—all occasioned by the inability of any one to keep an exact account of what the Senate was doing to the bill.

It is likely it will be impossible to engross the bill because of these defects. In that event it is planned that the legislative reference bureau will write a whole new bill, containing the House bill as modified by the Senatorial amendments. This new bill would be offered as a single amendment to the House bill.

In such an event the Senate would seek to strike all of the House bill after the enacting clause and substitute the amendment.

JUSTICE COURT PRACTICE TALKED AT MEETING HERE

State's Attorney W. H. Absher Discusses Collection By Justices of Peace

Use of the justice of peace offices as collection agencies, and a recent action of the board of county commissioners in which they set out that they will not pay claims to justices unless the claims have been approved by the state's attorney, were discussed at a meeting of the justices of peace of the county held in the office of A. B. Opperman yesterday afternoon. State's Attorney Wilfred Absher conducted the meeting and told the justices what they might expect for their services, as far as the county is concerned. The recent opinion of Attorney General Otto Kerner, in which he held illegal the practice of justices in filing suits to collect bills in their own courts, was explained.

The resolution, which was passed Sept. 7, 1933, was read to the justices stating that the county would not pay claims for justice services unless the claims had been approved by the state's attorney, and also stated that the state's attorney could not approve the claims until he had received a full report of the case in which expenses occurred.

Further, the state's attorney told the justices that his office would not become a bill collecting agency. Referring to checks given without the proper amount of funds to cover, the state's attorney declared that his office is not interested in bringing these cases before justices of the peace unless the complaining witnesses are willing to prosecute.

In the past, he explained, it has been the custom to file cases involving cold checks, and then being forced to drop them when the complaining witnesses received some settlement out of court. In these cases, he explained, the county has been left to bear the court charges, amounting to at least $3.40 on each case. The state's attorney said he was willing to prosecute cases involving "cold" checks, but the county did not want to become a collection agency.

About 20 justices of the peace from over the county attended the meeting.

ESCAPE DEATH

Pana, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kroenlein, prominent farmers of Ohlman community, ten miles west of Pana, leaped to safety when their automobile, which had stalled on the New York Central crossing at Ohlman, was demolished by a fast St. Louis-bound train this afternoon.

Harry C. Gipson, section foreman, working a hundred yards away, screamed a warning in time for the Kroenleins to escape.

The car was hurled over the top of the engine and landed on the baggage car.

REPUBLICANS TO BOMBARD FDR'S BUDGET PROGRAM

Representative Takes Poll Of Constituents

Abingdon, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Frank W. McClure, democratic representative in the state legislature from the forty third district, today started a poll among his constitutents to determine:

If they want him to seek reelection;

If they want him to run for congress;

If they want him to stay at home;

And if they approve with his break with Governor Henry Horner, democrat.

McClure, who previously announced that he would not seek reelection said that many constituents had written approving of his differences of opinions with the Governor, and hence he wanted to sound out sentiment.

McClure maintained that Governor Horner does not represent democratic sentiment downstate.

MORGENTHAU'S CONFIRMATION NOW ASSURED

Bailie's Retirement Removes Senatorial Objections

By Richard L. Turner,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The last senatorial objection to the confirmation of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as secretary of the treasury was removed today by the resignation of Earle Bailie who he brought into the department as a special assistant in charge of fiscal affairs.

While the Senate finance committee voted favorably on the Morgenthau appointment this week, such forcible objection to Bailie's continuance was raised by Senator Couzens, (R., Mich.), that a Senate vote on confirmation was postponed to keep the controversy from flaring up on the floor.

Bailie's integrity was not questioned in any particular, the objections of Couzens and his colleagues being based upon his previous and continuing association with the New York banking firm of J. and W. Seligman and Company, which Couzens contended had floated several issues of foreign bonds now partially or wholly in default.

While Morgenthau said only last Tuesday that he expected Bailie to continue working with him on the temporary basis upon which the latter entered the department, the secretary today announced that he had accepted his resignation, submitted by letter to become effective at Morgenthau's convenience before the end of January.

Bailie's communication called attention to the understanding that his services were to be temporary and said that due to the recent death of a senior partner in J. and W. Seligman and Co., he felt he should devote his entire attention to the affairs of the firm.

Because of Bailie's long experience in the investment banking field, Morgenthau's plan was for him to take active charge of the vast borrowing operations which the government must undertake in the next six months, and for which plans were said today to be advancing.

To pay the costs of the recovery program government securities totalling six billion dollars must be floated, President Roosevelt reported to Congress this week, and an additional four billions of government paper must be issued to meet an equivalent amount of obligations maturing before June 30.

Bailie, in his month and a half in the department, also has been in close touch with the development of the president's monetary program, with which he always has professed full harmony. The program has been advancing by easy stages, occasional inflationists demanding speed and more definite action.

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, a leader of that group, is urging that the government commandeer the gold held by the federal reserve system. He has prepared a bill to accomplish this, which, he says, the administration is studying. Federal reserve officials today said that legislation would be necessary, although some treasury officers have held that the authority to do so already exists.

MEXICAN POLICE ARREST SUSPECTS

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, Jan. 6.—(AP)—What authorities called a conspiracy to kill Rudolfo Elias Calles, governor of Sonora and son of former President Plutarco Elias Calles, was believed frustrated tonight with the arrest of ten men.

Soldiers and police rounded up the alleged plotters after a gun-fight in which one soldier was wounded. Several suspects, including Pedro Salazar Feliz, described by officials as the leader, escaped.

Police reported that the conspirators had planned to shoot Governor Calles, the second son of Mexico's "Iron Man" to be threatened by assassins in the last month, as he left a hotel at Navajoa.

SEN. PATTERSON SAYS U. S. FACES FINANCIAL RUIN

Claims Congress Is Under Control Of Administration

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Republicans began their promised bombardment of the Roosevelt budget today as the senate and house took time off and prepared for the contests to come.

With both houses in recess until Monday and committees and leaders busying themselves for next week's grappling with liquor taxes, the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty and appropriation measures, a mid-west senate republican gave the cue to the opposition plans for fighting huge additional outlays.

In a lengthy formal statement, senator Patterson (R-Mo) said President Roosevelt's estimate of a deficit of more than $7,000,000,000 this year made it obvious that "we are traveling along the road to financial ruin."

"Both branches of congress are so overwhelmingly under the control of the administration," he asserted, "that only an aroused public opinion can stop the wild orgy of spending now going on."

The American people, he continued, were "no doubt shocked at the admission of President Roosevelt (who less than a year ago promised a prompt balancing of the federal budget) that the first fiscal year of his administration would end with a deficit of $7,309,088,211, exclusive of debt retirement amounting to $288,171,500."

Democratic leaders retorted that the president's budget message was a frank statement of conditions brought about by essential emergency spending, that the ordinary budget was nearly balanced and that by 1936 both ordinary and emergency appropriations would be on a pay-as-you-go basis.

During the informal budget debate, Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee announced his group would meet Monday to expedite the house liquor tax bill, but started a round of discussion by saying it would give "very serious consideration" to the plan for a $2.60 tax with a credit of 20 percent to states that refrained from enacting gallonage levies.

There will be opposition to the plan in committee and on the floor if the committee approves it, despite Harrison's claim it would not "perpetuate bootlegging" and was a "very full and fair way or raising revenue." Harrison did not commit himself to the idea definitely.

The liquor tax bill will not reach the senate floor until mid-week. Meanwhile, the senate will act on nominations, including that of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as treasury secretary, and may begin consideration of the controverted St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty with Canada.

The house, having gotten away to a flying start by enacting the first big bill on the third day of the session—the $2 liquor levy measure—will listen to some speeches and act on miscellaneous measures Monday and later in the week will consider the district of Columbia liquor regulation and the independent offices appropriation bill.

ATTORNEYS FOR KIDNAP SUSPECTS FRAME DEFENSE

Will Claim That Ransom Money Was Paid After Victim's Release

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—That the $1,500 which the state charges was paid for James Hackett's release when the Blue Island, Ill., gambler was held by the Klutas kidnaping gang, was not ransom, will be the defense of Gale Swolley of Peoria, Ill., when he goes on trial Monday.

This strategy was announced tonight by attorney T. J. McCormick. Swolley and Frank Souder of Benton, Ill., are charged with kidnaping Hackett in May, 1933.

Jack Klutas, slain by a detective tonight, was indicted with them.

The defense theory is that the payment, if a payment is proved, was made a considerable time after Hackett was released. And that such a payment is not technically ransom. While kidnaping for ransom is a capital offense in Illinois, the penalty for plain kidnaping is relatively light.

Attorney McCormick entered the case only tonight after W. W. O'Brien had withdrawn.

It is expected that Julian "Babe" Jones of St. Charles, Ill., will take the stand as the state's star witness against his companions.

Klutas was credited with being field general for his gang in the many kidnaping forays, Jones the collector, and is exather and that after "contact m likely prospects, the Thus, in the gang planned rmance com- submitted them to leader for approval ew Ford V-8.

Brighter Days Ahead

Within the past week two events have occurred in Jacksonville that are a most encouraging forecast of brighter days ahead for the entire community. For many weeks Jacksonville people have been reading reports of recovery elsewhere in the country. Now they can issue a few good words for their own locality.

Perhaps the most important event of the two occurred yesterday when 300 employes of the plant of J. Capps & sons witnessed and approved the signing of an agreement by which the plant will resume immediate operation. Within ten days all of the employes, who have been idle since Sept. 26, will be back at work.

For the workers themselves this means renewed income. For many of them it means a return of independence and a resumption of living on their own resources. For Jacksonville it means an increase in purchasing power of its citizens of several thousand dollars a week. It will mean better business for everybody.

The opening of the plant came about after weeks of tireless effort on the part of interested citizens. Representatives of labor and the company, and civic leaders who had no direct interest in the plant itself, worked side by side to reach an amicable agreement.

The matter was carried to Washington, where Congressman Henry T. Rainey gave it his best attention. He took up the Capps problem with leaders of NRA, and finally a government representative was sent here. For days the conferences have been in progress, with the result that a workable agreement has been reached.

The community is happy over the outcome, and is grateful to all who had anything to do with the reopening of the plant. It is the hope of every citizen that what has been a principal industry here for nearly a century will continue successful and uninterrupted operation, rendering its usual service in the cause of general community prosperity.

The other event which has made Jacksonville people get their chins up and smile was the announcement a week ago this morning that Ayers National bank will pay a 10% dividend to depositors this month. The bank will release in Jacksonville about $275,000 in ready cash. That much money, added to the incrased industrial payrolls, should make this town hum with business activity. All of us can now feel that Jacksonville is definitely on its way out of the depression, and with an increasing momentum in its progress.

World Ice Plant

Commander Byrd believes he is now in the greatest ice-producing area in the world. In a recent message from the south polar region he declared that the members of the expedition had seen some 5,000 bergs in a single day, while observers on similar voyages into the north had counted only 1,700 in a season.

The men on the Jacob Rupert saw one berg fifteen miles long. Scientific men in the party estimated that it contained a hundred billion tons of ice, enough to supply every man, woman and child in the world with 100,000 pounds. They did not, however, figure out how it could be distributed.

On a recent flight over the region into which the Byrd expedition is penetrating each day, the Commander found some 200,000 square miles of ocean, filled with floating ice and great packs. Bergs tower hundreds of feet into the air, and the vastness of their bulk can hardly be reckoned.

For icebergs ride deep on the ocean. For every foot they tower above the water, they extend seven feet below its surface. Only about one-eighth of their mass is visible. The Byrd ship is steering among these bergs with great caution, for no ship that strikes one of such floating mountains can hope to survive.

Bark Around The World

When the promoter of the Atlantic cable visited England in search of financial support for his enterprise, he found the rich lords of the realm interested mainly in their hunting dogs. Being no canine expert, he was at a loss to know how to contact them. But one day he got his case over in fine style. He made one nobleman sit up and take notice with this:

"Could you conceive of a dog as long as London bridge?"

The Englishman gasped, but said he believed he could. The promoter then increased the size of the dog until he was as big as the House of Parliament, and the Johnny kept up with him. Finally he closed with this:

"I want you to imagine a dog so ca[rge] that when you pinch his tail in [Lon]don, he'll bark in New York."

The follo[wing] beginning of the At[lan]tic Paper, "Hi[s] Back Into th[e] thing has actually E. The Best Control

It is the realities of the liquor situation that must be faced in America today. There are, and will be, conditions far short of the desires of many earnest men and women. But the country has made its decision for a change. It is in view of the extremely practical demands of the existing situation that the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches has taken a wise stand in what it terms "a message on the present liquor problem." "This representative agency of organized religion takes the position that even those who are convinced of the merits of prohibition and consider it the "only final solution of the great evil" should "give their support to securing the best forms of control now possible."

That is a sane and constructive view. It does not relate itself to what is now impossible of achievement but rather to the things that can be attained. The latter include prevention of a return of the saloon, of the old evil connection between politics and the liquor traffic, of political or partisan control and a resort to education and to other possible means of effective control. That those previously or even now committed to prohibition should work to these ends would not be to compromise or to renounce convictions. It would simply be a recognition of actualities and making the most of them.

Put Money to Work

The government and the banks have now done their part to reassure the public as to the safety of banks. The complete protection for bank deposits up to $2,500 now in effect serves as an absolute guarantee for 97 per cent of present depositors. By July 1, there will be full protection for deposits up to $10,000, with 75 percent protection from $10,000 to $50,000 and 50 per cent protection above that.

It is now up to the public to do its part. All the people who have been keeping their cash under the mattress or in the bureau drawer or the sugar bowl or the old sock should now put it into the bank, to earn more money for them and for the banks, and to help swell the volume of circulating cash and credit and promote business recovery.

It will be up to the banks, more definitely than it has yet been, to do their part, lending as they used to do to any worthy person or business institution for any proper purpose, on the basis of sound character or proper security. And they can afford now to be more generous in their estimate of character and collateral than they have been for some time.

Put money to work. That is the big need today. Idle money is as bad as idle men. Worse in some ways, because it keeps men idle.

Views of The Press

FARMER AND THE NRA.

(New York Times.)

"How're things on the farm, Cy,"

"Purty good, I guess; I won't know for certain till I hear from Washington. They keep the books. I get a quarterly report on how I've been doing."

"How're all the cows?"

"I dunno much about them cows. I've sort of lost touch."

"How so?"

"Well, the administration is looking after the herd now. A federal man drives 'em to and from pasture and a cabinet officer milks 'em."

"Is your poultry doing well?"

"Purty good. Since Washington took the farm over, the poultry's goin' great guns. I couldn't get the hens to lay very stiddy, but this here Prof. Tugwell fixed that. He's got the hens laying two eggs a day."

"How's crops, Cy?"

"Everything looks purty fair, although I wouldn't know very much about 'em."

"You wouldn't know much about 'em?"

"Nope. I don't bother with details no more. The government's got a brigadier general, a retired naval officer and a couple of professors here. They've taken all the responsibility off my shoulders."

"Have you had any drought this season?"

"Oh, shucks! We don't have to worry about droughts no more."

"You don't?"

"Nope! The brain trust takes care of that. Whenever there's been a dry spell and we need rain, I just phone the political leader, and he telephones Roosevelt, who tells the brain trust, and we get rain right smartly. These brain trusters don't take no nonsense from the weather."

"Got the old farm paid for, Cy?"

"Shucks! I don't worry about the mortgage no more. Uncle Sam looks after that. I don't even know what the mortgage it. Some day, when the government men are around, I'll ask 'em just for fun."

The men will hold their meeting at the court house beginning at nine forty five o'clock and the woman's session will begin at ten thirty o'clock at the Baptist church.

Reports of the activities of the two groups will be given and directors for 1934 will be elected. This meeting will be the fifth annual session for the Supply company and the fourth for the Produce association. The present officers of the Supply company are: Ray Searls, president; Edward Highfill, vice president; L. A. Landon secretary-treasurer; R. H. Voorhees, Theodore Beierman, G. W. Weineke and Charles Ruyle, directors, and Otto Wilson, manager.

The Produce officers are: Firm Cooke, president; Asa Becker, vice president; Grover Pearce, secretary-treasurer; W. C. Calhoun, Henry Hagen, Ernest Palmer and William Egelhoff, trustees, and Lawrence Ferguson, manager.

Miss Anna May Price, state extension librarian of Springfield, will give the address at the Woman's meeting. Her subject will be "Books and Magazines for the Home."

A joint session of the groups will be held at the Baptist church in the afternoon at one thirty o'clock at which time Fred E. Herndon, president of the Illinois Farm Supply company will give the main address. Community singing will begin the session and the meeting will be brought to a close with the distribution of dividend checks by both companies. The common stock patronage checks that will be given out by the Produce company will amount to $11,760, and the patronage checks of the Produce association will total $800.

Officers announced that the Farm Supply company during the five years it has been in operation here has paid out $2,870.56 on preferred stock and $47,840.67 on common stock, making a total of $50,711.23.

Brewer-Gillespie

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Nadine Gillespie, of St. Louis, formerly of this city, to A. J. Brewer which took place New Year's afternoon at four o'clock, in Waterloo, Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. Arment Brasse of St. Louis, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the couple.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Gillespie of Jerseyville. She attended the Jersey Township High school and was employed in the Jerseyville Telephone office for some time before going to St. Louis. At present she is employed in the adjustment department of the Grand Leader in St. Louis and will continue her work for a time.

Mr. Brewer is manager of the West End Kroger store in St. Louis.

Honor Bride at Party

Mrs. James J. Walsh a recent bride of this city, was guest of honor Wednesday evening at a dinner party given by Miss Marie Hall at the Colonial hotel. The guests included members of the bride's club, her sister, Miss Agnes Mitzel and Mrs. A. L. Ranft.

After the dinner which was served at six thirty o'clock, the guests went to the reception room of the hotel where little Miss Dorothy Jean Ranft presided over a caldron, brewing a bright future for the bride. The seance ended with the presentation of a large shower of kitchen utensils for the honoree's new home in the Brockman apartments.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge. Mrs. Walsh was before her marriage which occurred last Thursday, Miss Irene Mitzel, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. A. F. Mitzel.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier

Beverly Hills, Calif., Jan. 6.—This country runs to the figure ten. There has been many who has had to say, "Mr. can you spare a dime," but President Roosevelt is the first man in the history of the world, who looked a nation right in the face and said, "Mister can you spare ten billion dollars?" Well congress and the American people considered it such a compliment to be asked for that much that they really liked it.

To Address Club

HON. A. L. BOWEN

The Jacksonville Woman's club will hold its regular meeting Saturday afternoon, January 13, at the D. A. R. Chapter House.

Mrs. Herbert Capps, general program chairman announces that this meeting will be one of the most outstanding on the club calendar. The speaker will be State Supt. of Charities, A. L. Bowen, who has been secured through the Civics committee of which Mrs. M. J. Donahoe is chairman. The organization has always devoted study and assistance to all welfare work and this particular meeting will create great interest in this department and a large attendance is expected.

There will be a musical program arranged by Miss Charlotte Sieber, chairman of the music committee. Following the program a social hour will be held which is being arranged by Mrs. G. B. Andre.

MORE THAN 11,000 BOOKS CIRCULATED HERE IN DECEMBER

The number of books circulated from the public library during the month of December was 11,666. Of this number, 7,403 were circulated from the adult department, 2,561 from the children's room, and 1,702 from the schools.

The number of books circulated in the various classes were as follows: Fiction 6,387; Sociololgy 1,171; Magazines 575; Literatur 560; Fine Arts 527; History 491; Science 414; Biography 394; Travel 359; Rentals 231; Useful Arts 222; Religion 128; Philosophy 122; Pamphlets, 49; General, 22; Languages, 14.

The daily average of books circulated was 466. Of all books circulated 56% were fiction.

During the month there were 58 new borrowers registered in the adult department, 15 in the juvenile department, and 4 new rural borrowers; 27 adults were re-registered and 10 rural borrowers were re-registered; making the total registration for the month 114.

37 new books were added in the adult department, 9 in the children's room, and 109 in the school collections; making a total of 155 new books. There are now 36,225 volumes in the library distributed as follows: 28,585 in the adult department; 5,383 in the children's room; and 2,257 in the school collections.

During the month of December there were 651 readily answered questions handled; 370 reference questions; 53 research questions; 29 bibliographies were prepared for club papers; 77 overdue notices were sent; 64 books were reserved by telephoning patrons; and 326 telephone calls were answered. There were 10 meetings held in the library by various organizations, and 7 special book displays made.

Library activities usually drop off during December on account of the holidays, and this year has proved no exception to that rule. The after Xmas rush, which has already begun, more than makes up for the brief lull in December.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT CALIFORNIA HOME

Word was received here Saturday of the death of Mrs. William Smith formerly of this city, which occurred at 6:30 o'clock last Monday evening at her home in Los Angeles, Calif. The family resided here for many years. Mrs. Smith was Marian McClure, of Virginia.

She is survived by her husband and several children, all of whom are now living in the west. Burial took place in Los Angeles.

LESTER A. REED

Announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Assessor and Treasurer, by Lester A. Reed, brings into the field a man well and favorably known to the voters of Morgan county. Prominent as a farmer and breeder of livestock, he has, since birth, resided about five miles southeast of Jacksonville.

Mr. Reed was educated at Whipple Academy, Brown's Business College and the University of Illinois. Deeply interested in all matters pertaining to agricultural development, he was especially active in the re-establishment of the Morgan County Fair, becoming its first president and serving in the same office a number of times. Likewise he was a charter member of the Morgan County Farm Bureau and served in various capacities during and since its organization.

His appeal for the support of the voters of Morgan County is based upon his broad general experience, knowledge of property valuations and a record of reliability in the various positions in which he has served.

He is married and his family consists of himself, his wife, seven sons and two daughters, with all of whom the people of this community are well acquainted.

Mr. Reed is forty-five years of age and well qualified for the office which he seeks.

Any members from the Jacksonville or Morgan county area who wish to attend this Thursday conference please notify Mrs. Ellsworth Black by Tuesday morning.

One of the Tinies shouted, "Oh! We're buried in a house of snow. Our flying sled has played a trick that brought a big surprise."

Then Dotty shouted, "Please help me back to my feet. I cannot see. I guess I landed head first, 'cause there's snow in both my eyes."

"Just wipe them out. Forget your fright," said Scouty. "You will be all right. We're lucky that we didn't land in something made of wood.

"I'm sorry, though, that we broke through this monstrous Eskimo igloo. I tried to steer our sled away. It didn't do much good."

"I'll say it didn't," cried the man who stood nearby. "Now, if you can, build me another house. Im going to watch you till it's done.

"That was my little home, you see, and I'm as mad as I can be. Do as I say, or I will spank you all. That won't be fun!"

"Oh, we were merely pleasure bent. The whole thing was an accident," wailed Goldy. "Please don't spank us. We will build a big igloo.

"I'm sure, if we all lend a hand, we'll pile one up that will look grand. We'll let you be the boss, and you can tell us what to do."

They all worked for a little while. The Eskimo then, with a smile, said, "Ah, here comes my little son. Please let the igloo go.

"Instead, just play with my small boy. I know 'twill fill him full of joy. He seldom has small playmates. You can all have fun, I know."

Then to his little son he said, "Here are some new friends. Go ahead and show them all around. There are some sights they'd like to see."

The youngster smiled from ear to ear. "I will!" he shouted. "Never fear." And then he hugged wee Dotty. She was startled as could be. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

CLUB WOMEN WHO WILL MEET NEXT WEEK KNOWN HERE

Many of the women who will attend the National Board meeting at Washington, D. C., of the General Federation of Women's Clubs or who will take part on the program are well known in Jacksonville, since they have been guest speakers at meetings of the women's organizations. Many of them are National officers representing the Woman's clubs, Business and Professional clubs, D. A. R.; League of Voters; A. A. U. W.; and Parent-Teacher associations. Members of these organizations will be interested in the following announcement:

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the honor guest and speaker at a dinner to be held at the Hotel Mayflower in Washington, D. C., Friday evening, January 12, in connection with the annual mid-winter meeting of the Board of Directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president. Additional guests will be: Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Member of Congress from Massachusetts; Mrs. Mary H. Rumsey, chairman of the Consumers' Advisory Board of the N. R. A.; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, chairman of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War; Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the National Council of Women; Miss Jessie Gray, president of the National Education Association; Mrs. Russel William Magna, president general of the D. A. R.; Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, national president of the Business and Professional Women's clubs; Miss Belle Sherwin, president of the National League of Women Voters; Mrs. Clara Keck Heflebower, president of the National League of American Pen Women; and Mrs. William John Cooper, president Washington Branch, American Association of University Women.

The board meeting, which brings women from every state in the Union, will be held at General Federation Headquarters, 1734 N Street, N. W., opening with a large reception Tuesday evening, January 9, to which board members will have as their guests their congressmen and their wives and others prominent in the social and official life of the nation's capital.

"These United States," the keynote of Mrs. Poole's administration, will be stressed in the light of the tremendous developments which have taken place in the country during the past nine months. It is hoped that General Hugh S. Johnson, head of the National Recovery Administration, will speak at the Thursday evening meeting. He will be followed by Dr. Frederic C. Howe, Consumers Counsel for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, who will explain the workings of that organization. Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, director of Womens Work for the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, will give the story of her work.

In addition to the dinner and reception, three teas are announced. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, president of the District of Columbia Federation, will be hostess at a tea to be given at the Womens City clubhouse. The Woman's club of Chevy Chase, Maryland, will give a tea at the home of Mrs. J. Craig Peacock. Historic Gadsby Tavern in Alexandria, Virginia, will be the scene of a tea to be given Wednesday by Miss Helen Norris Cummings, president of the Cameron club of that city.

SCOTT CO. WILL GET LARGE SUMS FOR LEVEE WORK

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Loans totaling $484,600 for refinancing nine drainage districts, including three in Illinois, were authorized today by the RFC.

The Illinois districts are:

Scott county drainage and levee districts, Scott county, Ill., $96,500.

Hillview drainage and levee district of Greene and Scott counties, Ill., $163,000.

Big Swan drainage and levee district of Scott county, Ill., $75,000.

SEVERAL GAMES HOLD INTEREST AT MACMURRAY

The MacMurray College Athletic Association has introduced some new sports into the Physical Education Curriculum to create more interest for the entire student body.

The volley ball season is now in progress. Those interested in the sport were divided into four color teams which were picked at random. The tournament will be held next week beginning January 8 at 4:30 p. m. The games will be played Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Monday and Wednesday of the following week.

Basketball will begin as soon as the volley ball season has ended. These teams will be chosen as to classes.

There are two new Ping Pong tables which all students may use. There will probably be an intersociety Ping Pong tournament in early spring.

An archery tournament will follow the Ping Pong tournament.

If enough interest is shown in the recreational sports there will be deck-tennis and shuffle board during the spring term.

Life-saving classes have begun. The members of these classes will practice life-saving until late spring when a Red Cross examiner will come to the college to give the examination.

Martha Woods '32, of Springfield, has begun her work as director of Athletic Association sports and the life-saving classes.

QUALITY

The Ford is the only car in the low-price field that gives you the superior performance of a V-8 engine.

NEW FORD V-8 for 1934

THAT rare, illusive thing called Style has been built into the New Ford V-8 for 1934. In its distinctive new radiator and graceful sweep of line. In its rich, lustrous colors. In the unmistakable quality of its appointments. In the very manner in which it speeds along the highway or steps out ahead as the light turns green.

We invite every motorist to see and drive this New Ford V-8. You will find it exceptionally roomy and comfortable and the easiest car to drive you have ever known. Safer, too, because of the all-steel body, effective brakes, and the added protection of safety glass. Unusually smooth and efficient at 50, 55 and 65 miles an hour because it has the reserve power to do well over 80.

NOW ON DISPLAY AT THE SHOWROOMS OF FORD DEALERS

$515 up

(F. O. B. Detroit, plus freight, delivery and tax. Bumpers and spare tire extra. Convenient terms through Authorized Ford Finance Plans of Universal Credit Company.)

New, clear-vision ventilation prevents drafts and gives ample supply of air at all temperatures. Windshield opens. New riding comfort because of increased spring flexibility, improved shock absorbers, new softer seat springs and deeper seat cushions.

New dual carburetor and new dual intake manifold insure quicker starting in cold weather and give more miles per gallon of gasoline. Thus, increased economy, comfort and performance combine with smart style to make the New Ford V-8 for 1934 the most satisfactory car you can own.

J. C. PENNEY WILL INCREASE SPACE WITH NEWSPAPERS

Newspaper advertising will play a leading part in business of the J. C. Penney nation-wide chain of department stores this year, according to J. C. Penney, head of the firm bearing his name, in a recent address. Speaking at a meeting in Davenport, Iowa, Mr. Penney declared that the advertising budget for the first half of 1934 of his stores calls for a greater total of newspaper lineage than any previous budget.

Mr. Penney is one of the nation's business leaders, and while a visitor in Jacksonville last summer was interviewed by this newspaper. In that interview he predicted that this year will bring a decided upswing in all business lines.

Speaking at Davenport on his plans for use of more newspaper space Mr. Penney said:

"This budget has been based on our strong conviction that simple, timely advertising of the right sort is a more important factor now than it has ever been in the past in the operation of our company or of any company whose market is amongst the millions of our fellow citizens who labor in the fields and in the factories.

"They are more lert now than has ever been the case in the developments of the day—hence the newspaper, and all that it contains, is a much more important factor in their lives.

1934 Expectations

"It is our confident expectation that 1934 will produce more business and a greater degree of prosperity for the country as a whole than we have seen in a long time."

Mr. Penney pointed out that the advertising used by his company contemplates first and foremost to tell the truth, and only the truth, about its merchandise.

"Our advertising instructions to our store managers starts off with this paragraph," he said, "'Truthfulness always—see that your advertising tells the truth—that it refers to merchandise exactly as to quality, price and value.'

"We have attempted to eliminate advertising misrepresentation of all sorts and to build up in the minds of our customers a feeling that they can trust without question the veracity of our statements."

Avoids "Hokum"

The policy of his stores, Mr. Penney said, is to avoid all sort of advertising associated with "bunk" 'or "hokum" and "pride of ownership" appeals.

In the early days of his company his advertising consisted simply of a "bulletin of information" which was given as wide distribution as possible through the trading territory. This policy was successful, he pointed out, and since then he has resisted efforts to change it in favor of "institutional" and "pride of ownership" copy.

"The years 1930-33 with their strong emphasis upon value found us right back where we had started," he declared. "We were more firmly convinced than ever that the success or failure of our company depends entirely on the goodness of its merchandise and the reasonableness of its prices, and not on an artifical atmosphere created by advertising or by other means. Ours is a homely busines and must be preseted in a homely way."

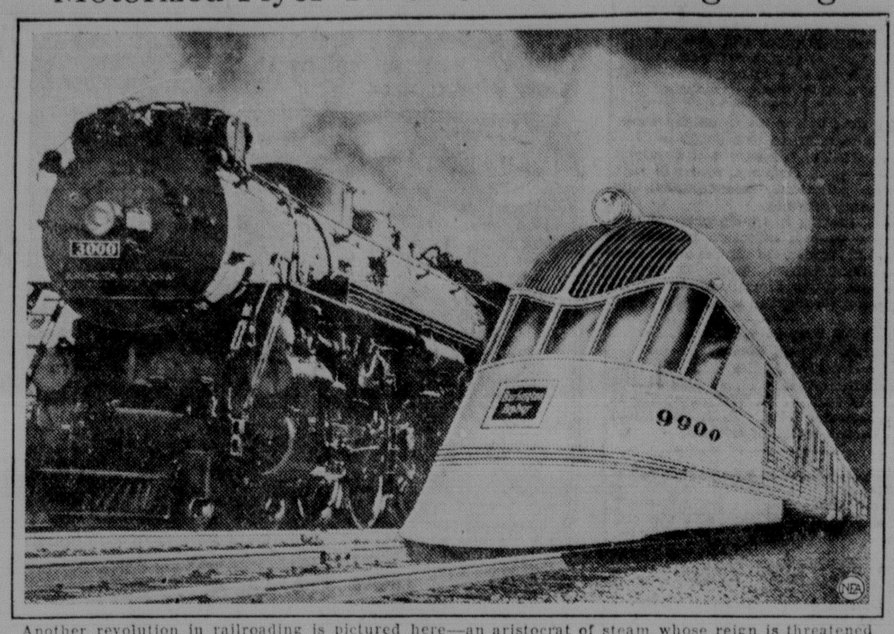

Depression Not the "Worst"

Commenting upon the depression, Mr. Penney asserted that he could not agree with those who have declared that it is the most widespread and disastrous of any previously experienced.

"It is a happy truth," he said "that on the whole human nature forgets rather quickly the sad and depressing factors once they have given way to brighter conditions. So in the more prosperous years behind us we had forgotten the severity of other periods of what we call 'hard times.'

"It appears to me that the economic and industrial conditions of the last four and one-half years are not by any means unprecedented but rather are a good example of history repeating itself."

Motorized Flyer Threatens Steam King's Reign

Another revolution in railroading is pictured here—an aristocrat of steam whose reign is threatened and its rival, the Burlington Route's first stream-lined stainless steel motorized train, capable of two miles a minute speed. The "Zephyr" is nearing completion in Philadelphia shops and will tour the east before going into service. The "Aristocrat" now pulls a crack Chicago-Denver train on the Burlington. The "Zephyr" complete weighs only 85 tons, the "iron horse," with tender, weighs 359 tons.

WM. E. KILLEN, WHO ONCE LIVED HERE, CALLED BY DEATH

Springfield, Jan. 6—William E. Killen, 825½ South Douglas avenue, for eighteen years an employe in the state auditor's office and a well known resident of this city, died at 8.43 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence. He was 62 years old.

Mr. Killen was born at Paterson, N. J. He came to Illinois when a young man and became engaged in the railroad business. First he was connected with the old J. & St. L. railroad at Jacksonville. Later he came to this city in the employ of the C. P. & St. L. railroad. He resided for a time at Jerseyville while still in railroad service.

Less than a year ago, he retired from the auditor's office. He was a member of Jerseyville lodge No. 394, A. F. & A. M.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Mae Killen Christy, of this city; one niece, Mrs. Grace Keane Whitesides, of Chicago; two grand-nieces and one grand-nephew, of Chicago. Two sisters and two brothers preceded him in death.

The remains were taken to Thomas C. Smith Sons funeral chapel, where services will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. Harold S. Farrell of Jerseyville, will officiate. Interment will be made in Oak Ridge mausoleum.

Mr. Killen was a resident here many years ago, when he served as master mechanic and superintendent in the old car shops. During his stay here he resided at the Dunlap House. He will be remembered by many of the older residents of Jacksonville.

ARENZ TWINS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY WITH DINNER

Twenty boys enjoyed the hospitality of a birthday dinner in the home of Frank Arenz on East Court street. The table was groaning with good things for healthy boys to eat. To the boys' great delight, there were cake and ice cream "to top it all off." Riddles and games preceded and followed up the dinner. Volunteers entertained with recitations and songs. The decorations also were pleasing and the kindly welcome of Mr. and Mrs. Arenz, as well as the sincere friendship of Clinton W. Arenz, who is the Sunday School teacher of the boys, helped to encourage young boys to choose a path of righteousness.

UNCLE JOE PAGE ENTERTAINS AT TURKEY DINNER

Jerseyville, Ill., Jan. 6.—Editor and Mrs. J. M. Page in accordance with a custom instituted by them many years ago, entertained the members of the staff of the Jersey County Democrat, at a turkey dinner given at the Page home on West Pine street Thursday evening.

The dinner was served at six thirty o'clock at a long banquet table in the Page dining room, where covers were laid for sixteen. The centerpiece of the table was a potted blooming cyclamen. Small candles made in the form of Christmas trees with silver decorations furnishsd the lighting for the table. These were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Page especially for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. Jett Kirby of Los Angeles, California.

A four course dinner was served following which a musical program was enjoyed.

Those present at the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Atchison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thatcher, Mr. and Mrs Warren Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murphy, Misses Florence Shortal and Margaret DeBaun, Charles Powell, Donald Saxby, Elmer Howell and Francis Whitley.

Edward Nelson of Jerseyville was named purchasing agent for CWA work in Jersey county Thursday evening at a meeting of the CWA officials and engineers held at the court house in this city. Nelson's position is listed under the dollar-a-year jobs.

Mr. Koontz, chief auditor of Chicago, and J. E. Weinel, district engineer, and representatives of the Civil Works administration in Greene, Calhoun and Macoupin counties were present at the meeting. A discussion was held on the proceedure to be followed in purchasing materials and supplies for the various projects that are being accepted.

CWA Pay Roll $5,200

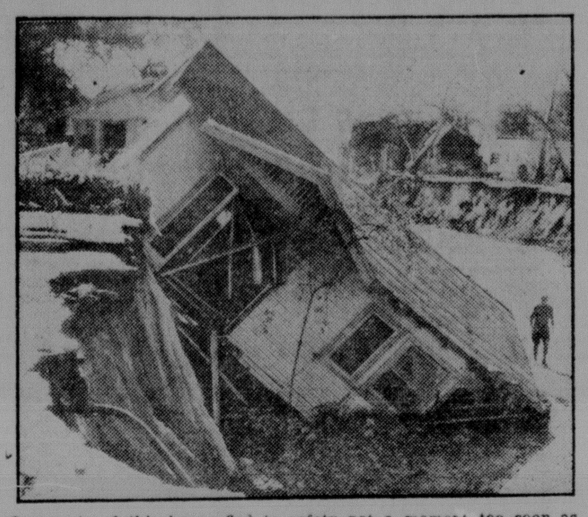

The total amount of the pay roll checks for emloyees of the Civil Works administration in Jersey county for the week ending Saturday, January 6th is $5,200.00. Most of these checks will be distributed to the workers the first of next week.

At present there are fifteen projects under way and several new ones will be assigend next week. The pay roll has been increasing steadily and the various busines concerns of the county are showing the effects of the extra money being put into circulation.

The Jersey County Illinois Society of St. Louis will hold its annual mid-year reunion, dinner and election of officers at the Hotel Claridge on 18th and Locust streets in St. Louis, Saturday evening, January 27th, according to announcement made by Dr. Bertha Hansell Erwin this week.

Arrangements are being made for a large attendance this year and an interesting progam is being planned. The officers of the society at present are: Dr. George Pennington, president; Don H. Frost, vice president, and Dr. Bertha H. Erwin, secretary-treasurer.

After Flood Paid a Hurried Call

Occupants of this house fled to safety not a moment too soon as flooded waters ripped away the ravine bank and toppled the structure into the torrent which roared down the gulch at Verdugo Woodlands, Calif. The car in the garage in the rear hung over the ravine, but did not fall into the flood.

Legion and Auxiliary officials from the folowing states, comprising the area, will attend: Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin. The conference will be outstanding among others that will be held in other areas of the United States this winter.

Among other speakers will be: Mrs. Margaret Wells Wood, lecturer of the American Association of Social Hygiene, New York, on the subject, "Safeguarding Adolescence;" Frank Bane, director, American Public Welfare Association, Chicago, "Public Welfare Organization in a State;" Charles L. Chute, executive director, National Probation Association, New York, "The Child, the Court, the State;" Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, American Child Health Association, New York, "The Progress of May-Day, Child Health Day," Miss Abbott will speak on "Your United States Children's Bureau.

The conference sessions will be held in the Statler hotel. The opening session Friday morning, Feb. 2, will start with reports by department chairmen for the Legion and Auxiliary of the thirteen states; with special five minute messages on the child labor amendment, as follows: "How Iowa Ratified," by F. H. Cooney; "How Kansas Lost Out," Beryl R. Johnson; "How Minnesota Ratified;" Frank E. Morse" and "The Status in Missouri," O. K. Armstrong. All other department chairman will report on state, accomplishment or set-backs, in brief statements. Twenty states have ratified the amendment, which seeks to perpetuate the regulation now in existence under the Recovery Act that wipes out sweatshops and increases adult employment.

Among those who will speak Friday are E. M. Steger, director of the St. Louis Community Council, on "Child Life the Chief Concern of Family and Community;" Peter Kasius, manager of the St. Louis Provident Association and director of the Citizens's Committee on Relief and Employment, on "Newer Trends in Relief Policies," and W. W. Burke, child welfare committee of the Missouri state conference of social work, Washington university, St. Louis, on "Methods of Obtaining Concerted Action Among Organizations interested in Child Welfare Legislation."

Miss Emma C. Puschner, director of the Legion's national child welfare division, formerly in child care work in St. Louis, will preside at the Saturto the public. The meetings are open to the public. All interested in children are welcome. There is no registration fee.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY NIGHT FOR TALK

The Jacksonville Centennial Garden club will hold the January meeting on Thursday, the 11th, at 7:30 p. m. at the David Strawn Home.

In speaking on the subject "The Historical Background of American Gardens," Mrs. Courtney Crouch Wright, local landscape architect, will continue the general subject of the December meeting. At that time Mrs. Charles Cole reviewed the recent book by Marion Cran, on "Gardens in America." Mrs. Wright will present the historical background and the sources of our garden styles and will give her impressions of the best American gardens showing Italian, English and French derivation. The choice of gardens will extend from the two hundred year old garden of Governor Hutchinson, near Boston, to recent estates at Lake Forest.

The talk will be of general interest to people who enjoy touring the country in search of historic beauty. Members of the Art Association will be guests and members of the Garden club may bring friends.

BLUEBOYS, ROUTT AND TIGERS WIN CAGE GAMES

Blueboys Sprint in Last Six Minutes to Defeat Carthage In Nip and Tuck Game 40-36

Carthage, Jan. 6.—(Special)—Putting on a Garrison finish, Illinois College notched its second Little 19 victory of the week here tonight by defeating Carthage college in a smooth clean, and close basketball game 40 to 36. Illinois led at the end of the first half 23 to 19 but Carthage took the lead in the second half and held it until the last six minutes.

"Tootall" Lasiter, the Blueboy towering center, led the team to victory with 17 points, one of his biggest evenings at the net. "Slim Jim" Winn, the leading conference scorer, was next in line with 12 points, but spent most of his time during the evening clinching his title as the star guard of the conference.

Morrison led the Carthage scoring with 16 points. Purdum finishing second with 12 points. Both teams were clicking offensively, running through defenses for points, and using the fast break to get other points. The large crowd of spectators got the thrill of the season in the neck and neck race the two teams staged, the lead changing hands 12 times.

Carthage jumped off to a lead at the start, but the Blueboys got organized and passed up Carthage, taking a 9-4 lead at one stage of the game. Carthage passed them up again before the half ended, the Blueboys nosing ahead again before the gun cracked.

Carthage shot away the four point the Blueboys established in the first half when the second period began, and went out in front five points, but again the Blueboys passed them up. Carthage forged ahead again by a few points, and from then on until the end of the game it was anybody's contest.

Bundy and Lasiter started the rally which put the Blueboys out in front at the end of the game, Bundy notching a fielder, and Lasiter flipping in a neat shot from a play. Mose Pearce made all three of his free shots during the last six minutes.

QUINCY DEFEATS PITTSFIELD 27-22

Pittsfield, Jan. 16.—(Special)—Quincy high registered its second win of the season over Pittsfield here tonight 27 to 22, but it was anybody's ball game almost from start to finish. Quincy led most of the way, but Pittsfield was always within shooting distance. In the curtain raiser, Pittsfield's reserves defeated Pearl 29 to 17.

With Barclift leading the way, Quincy took the lead in the second quarter and held it the remainder of the way. Pittsfield was out in front at the end of the first quarter 6-2, but couldn't keep up with Quincy's rangy outfit, the smallest man of which was as tall as Pittsfield's tallest player.

Quincy controlled the tip-off all the way, but Pittsfield's stubborn defense kept the game hot all the way. It was the second time Pittsfield lost this season. The box score:

CHICAGO BEATEN BY OHIO STATE

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Ohio State, sharer of the Western Conference basketball title with Northwestern last year, staged a strong closing rush tonight to defeat Chicago's sophomore five, 42 to 32, in the opening battle of the season.

The Maroons started with an all-sophomore combination which gave the Buckeyes a great tussle until the last seven minutes when Bobby Colburn, Max Padlow and Ted Rosequist accounted for nine points while Chicago was getting one. Chicago took an early lead, but the Buckeyes went ahead just before the end of the first period. Chicago tied it up as the second half started and held on until the final Ohio spurt which started with Chicago trailing by 31 to 33.

BUSY WEEK AHEAD FOR CAGERS; PIKE FIVE LEADS IVY

Conference Games Scheduled for Early in the Week—Teams Not Engaged in Tournaments—Springfield Here.

One of the busiest weeks of the season is just ahead of the basketball teams in this city and surrounding territory. Teams, freed from tournament play, will be busy trying to best each other almost all week long, with only Monday and Thursday nights left for outside interests. Illinois Valley conference teams, a bit slow about getting down to work, will launch their battles this week-end with virtually every team engaging in a conference game at some time or other.

The week is filled with highlights for the Jacksonville basketball fans. Illinois College will open the excitement Wednesday night in a game with the State Normal Redbirds here, and the Tigers will take up the thrill bearing the following Friday night when Murrayville's Shadows come here. Barry will be at Routt the same evening, but the Rockets are planning their big shot the following night when they meet Springfield high on the Illinois School for the Deaf boards. J. H. S. will go to Pittsfield for a game with the Illinois Valley conference leaders.

Pittsfield's overtime victory over Pleasant Hill Friday night left them in top position in the league, but Jerseyville, last year's co-champion, and playing a number of the lads who won the title last year, nosed out Greenfield in a peculiar game to get off to a good start. The conference standing at present is as follows:

Team—	W	L	Pct	Pts	Op
Pittsfield	3	0	1.000	88	63
Jerseyville	1	0	1.000	11	7
Griggsville	2	1	.667	69	85
Pleasant Hill	1	1	.500	72	49
Carrollton	0	1	.000	21	27
Greenfield	0	2	.000	26	40
Winchester	0	0	.000	36	52

White Hall and Roodhouse, teams which have not yet opened their conference seasons, will get away this week, Roodhouse playing at Winchester Tuesday night, and White Hall at Roodhouse Friday night.

The week's schedule:

Tuesday.

Roodhouse at Winchester.
Murrayville at Carrollton.
Chandlerville at Easton.
Virginia at Ashland.

Wednesday

State Normal at Illinois College.

Friday

Illinois College at Shurtleff.

Routt Romps Over St. Teresa At Decatur by 20 to 9 Score

Decatur, Jan. 6.—(Special)—Routt's tight defense kept St. Teresa away from the meshes in two quarters here tonight and the Rockets notched a 20 to 9 victory. Routt took the lead in the second quarter and rallied during the final period to clinch the game.

St. Teresa, after holding Routt to a six all score in the first period, failed to tally during the second period when Routt forged to the front 10-6. St. Teresa came up rapidly in the third period but the Rockets held their margin 14-9 at the close. St. Teresa failing to score in the final quarter when Routt began a march on the wickets.

Handling the ball smoothly, the Rockets looked more like their old selves. Clancy fired his way to the top in the scoring, pitching in 11 points. The remainder of the scoring was scattered evenly about the Routt line-up.

IRISH TROUNCE MICHIGAN STATE

East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Notre Dame University basketball team won its 20th straight victory here tonight, defeating Michigan State College, 34 to 33 in a rough and tumble battle that stretched into three overtime periods.

The game was won when Moose Kraust, Notre Dame center, sank a pair of short shots from the floor after the aggressive Irish attack had carried him well down under the basket. The third overtime began with the score tied at 30 all. Vander Roest sank a field goal to put State in the lead, and Van Fassen added one free throw in two attempts.

With a moment left to play, State was unable to keep possession of the ball, and two quick sallies by the Irish, with Kraust as the spearhead, turned the tide of victory.

The game ended with the score 25-all. At the end of the first extra period the score stood 28-all.

INDIANA NIPS MICHIGAN FIVE

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Indiana University opened its Big Ten basketball season here tonight by overwhelming an erratic University of Michigan quintet 29 to 18. The Hoosiers, mixed some accurate long distance shooting with some clever under basket formations to run up the score.

Coach Dean used reserves in the last half, after the regulars had run up a 29 to 8 lead on the visitors, whose offense was led by Lablonski, center.

MURRAYVILLE WINS FROM WHITE HALL

Murrayville, Jan. 6.—(Special)—Murrayville continued its winning streak over Illinois Valley teams here tonight by defeating White Hall 30 to 18. Murrayville's scoring was scattered among eight players, while Clark, White Hall forward, led his team with 12 of the 18 points. Murrayville's second team registered a win over White Hall's seconds, the first time White Hall's reserves have lost for some time, 34-24.

ILLINOIS WHIPS WISCONSIN 20-17

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Illinois opened the Western Conference basketball championship season tonight with a 20 to 17 victory over Wisconsin in a slow, rough game.

The Illini took the lead after the first ten minutes, and by cautious play and close guarding, managed to make a small margin hold up to the finish. Illinois was charged with 12 personal fouls and the Badgers, although held to four field goals, cashed in on nine out of 13 free throw attempts. Wisconsin committed 10 personals, with Illinois making good on eight of 15 shots from the foul line.

Frank Froschauer led Illinois with three field goals and six free throws and played a strong floor game. The Illini played without Jack Beynon, star guard, who suffered a severe knee injury in practice yesterday and may not play again this season.

BALL TWP. DEFEATS WAVERLY 23 TO 22

Waverly, Jan. 6.—(Special)—Ball Township high nosed out Waverly in a ding-dong battle here tonight that went two overtime periods, 23 to 22. The regular playing time ended with the score tied at 18 all, and each team scored a field goal in the overtime period. Bridgewater, high point man for Ball, broke the tie in the overtime period with a free toss.

Ball led at the end of the half 10-6, but Waverly was in the fight all the way.

ASHLAND DEFEATS BEARDSTOWN FOR TOURNAMENT TITLE

Take Lead at Start and Hold It Through to Finish to Win 28-24. Chandlerville Wins Consolation From Rushville.

Beardstown, Jan. 6.—(Special)—A cool, calm Ashland high team that refused to be the underdog, came back tonight and defeated Beardstown 28 to 24 in the championship game of the annual invitational Beardstown tournament. Taking the lead at the start, Ashland nursed its hopes of winning the title carefully and conservatively most of the way, and stopped a spectacular Beardstown rally to grab the trophy.

Chandlerville defeated Rushville for consolation bhonors, winning 25 to 19.

Led by Robinson, the Ashland high scorer, the visiting team went out in front 5-3 in the first quarter, and 11-8 at half time. Once in a while they stretched the lead more than three points, but Beardstown whittled it down each time, but was unable to overcome the margin. Ashland led 21-18 at the end of the third quarter.

Robinson tossed in ten points of the winning team's total, with Lynn scoring seven points. Robertson and Bell tied for scoring honors on the Beardstown team, each scoring seven points.

PURDUE BEATS GOPHERS 45-30

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Purdue's basketball team romped to an easy victory tonight over Minnesota in the opening Big Ten game, 45-30. Using 14 players Coach Lambert took the Gophers in stride resting his regulars in both the first and second halves. Cottom, Lowery and Fehring led the Purdue attack but the clever work of Eddy and Shaver was equally important in the Purdue victory.

Swede Svendson, husky Gopher guard, was knocked out midway in the opening period when he crashed heads with Roscoe, his own teammate.

Roscoe's one hand shooting and smooth floor play was the feature of Minnesota's play.

Irrepressible Tigers Rise Up and Smite Spalding in Overtime Battle 20 to 19

Those irrepressible Tigers, and their dogged, alert, basketball upset the dope again last night when they knocked the props from under the Spalding high team of Peoria, the same team which the night before tumbled Routt, the Tigers going thru one overtime period to win 20 to 19. History, rules, and a bit of background played a big part in the game, but it was the consistant plugging, running and breaking that gave Coach S. Robey Burns boys a thrilling victory. The 16's, boys under 17 years of age, defeated the J. H. S. frosh-soph combination in the opening game 14-12 with a basket in the last 45 seconds of play to give the evening a big send-off.

There were thrills galore as the Tigers ripped things apart and put them back together again, with "Bad Boy" Cox, the monicker hung on him because of his cute (see Webster) ways, playing a big part. Cox just wouldn't let the Spalding lads play pass with the ball, he broke fast for the basket and made four fielders and missed about a dozen others, and then dropped in a free throw with just 45 seconds left to play when Coach Johnny Noppenberger, Spalding mentor, hopped out of his seat and howled for a time out, just after Spalding had gained a one point lead.

Ordinarily a time out wouldn't mean much in a ball game, but it happened that this one was Spalding's fourth time out, one more than the allotted number in a ball game. Noppenderger was quite surprised when he learned that the Purple had had three other rest periods, and wanted to rescind the time out as much as he wanted to win the ball game. It couldn't be done, however, and when Cox pitched in the toss, one that hit the front edge of the rim, bounced against the bankboard, and then came back through the mesh, Noppenberger felt rather downhearted.

Spalding Takes Lead Again

Spalding didn't take it seriously, and shortly after play began in the overtime, Convers caged a 20 foot toss from the side of the court that went through the meshes about as prettily as a ball can split the threads. Kelch fouled Cox when the Tiger forward was trying to get to the basket, and Harley popped in the effort. Two minutes expired before the Tigers got the winning point. Spalding tried to set up a zone defense quickly after the Tigers gained possession of the ball, but in the set up, Garland got a long shot from deep and to the side of the court. The ball didn't go through the hoop, but it did come right down in Cox's hands, and Cox who was as uncovered as the Sahara desert, hopped into the air and laid the ball cold in the threads. The Tigers got the next tip off, despite the efforts of Grimm, Spalding's six foot five inch center, and held it until the last five seconds of play when Grimm intercepted a Tiger pass, crossed the center line, and cut loose with a shot. The ball went high over the bankboards as the game ended.

Spalding took a short lead in the first quarter 4-2 and then stretched their lead to 7-2 before the Tigers connected seriously. Cox and Beaird each hit free tosses, and then Cox pulled off one of his fancy shots, snatching a rebounding ball from the bankboard and shoving it through the net just as a Spalding man reached for it. Spalding led at the half 7-6, but Stogis got a free throw, and Cox a bucket to open the third quarter. Spalding scoring only from the free throw line to tie the count at 10 all. Cox dribbled the length of the court to open the fourth quarter, and Garland tossed in a long shot, Kelch got a short one, Stogis made one on a bounce pass from Cox near the hoop, and Convers tossed in another fielder.

With two minutes to go Kelch made a free throw, to make the score 16-15, I. S. D. leading, and Kelch gave Spalding the lead, 17-16, with about 45 seconds to go, setting the stage for the Noppenberg error.

Motorist Carries Box of Excelsior In Peculiar Place

A Jacksonville merchant who started down town in his car Saturday morning had gone nearly a block before he disvovered he was carrying extra baggage in a peculiar position on his car. A neighbor, making his way to town without the aid of gasoline, hailed the man in the car, because he heard a peculiar noise and saw some object being dragged along under the front axle.

The two men investigated and found a box filled with excelsior wedged under the machine. It had been in the garage and had got in the way of the car, which ran squarely over it and carried it along. The box was wedged so tight that the motorist had some difficulty extricating it.

The car was stopped sometime, and as a result the neighbor who first saw the box of excelsior and another neighbor got rides down town. The box was also carried along in the rear seat, instead of under the car, where it had started the trip.

OPENING GAMES IN Y. M. LEAGUE TUESDAY NIGHT

Three Contests Will Start Off Basketball Race—Set of Rules For Teams Announced.

The opening games of the Y.M.C.A. basketball leagues are to be played next week according to the announcement of Secretary Hermann of the Y.M.C.A. The games are all to be played in the David Prince gymnasium, three games each Tuesday and Thursday evening except where school games or other school activity in the gymnasium may cause a change of date in which case effort will be made to have the games played on the Friday following. The doors of the school will not be opened until 7 o'clock, the first games being scheduled for 7:15. The twelve teams entered have been divided into two leagues, the winners of which will play a championship series at the end of the season.

The games for next week are as follows:

Tuesday, Jan. 9

7:15—Lynnville A.C. vs. Hofmann's Florals.
8:05—Chapin Boosters vs. Smith's Indees.
8:55—DeMolays vs. State Hospital.

Thursday, Jan. 11

7:15—Kline's vs. Am. Bankers Ins.
8:05—Krogers vs. E. State A. & P.
8:55—Conocos vs Smith's Reserves.

The games will be open to the public without admission cost, but with the expectation that the spectators will respect the courtesy extended the league by the Board of Education and will do nothing in or about the building contrary to the spirit or the letter of the school regulations.

The rules governing the league games this year, as approved by the board of managers of the leagues, are as follows:

1. The use of the school gymnasium is a privilege granted with the understanding that nothing will be done contrary to the spirit or the letter of school regulations. Each team member and each spectator will be expected to observe this understanding. In-as-much as the teams and players will be the ones to suffer if the privileges are taken from us, each person is responsible for seeing that these regulations are observer, by others as well as by himself.

2. There is to be no smoking in the buildings, no profanity, spitting, nor other ungentlemanly conduct.

3. Gym shoes are required and each team must wear a distinctive shirt, jersey or sweater.

4. Each team shall furnish a ball ready for playing, the referee and captains which ball to use.

5. Each captain shall provide a timer and scorekeeper for each game, one of which shall be designated as head timer and one head scorekeeper.

6. No player may play on more than one team during the series; he may not transfer from one team to another; nor may he be on the J.H.S., Routt or Illinois College squad.

7. Changes on the squad may be made during the first round only and must be in the hands of Secretary Hermann 24 hours before the new man may be played. The squad shall be limited to 10 men.

8. All games must be played as scheduled unless most exceptional conditions prevent, in which case 24 hours notice must be given both to the opposing captain and to Secretary A. D. Hermann of the Y.M.C.A.

Delay Means a Forfeit

9. Teams must be ready to play not later than ten (10) minutes from the time scheduled, or forfeit.

10. If a team appears with less than four (4) men the game shall be forfeited. If four players are present the game may be played with those four men or, if the opposing captain consents, an outside substitute (but in conformity with Rule 6) may be added for that game, in order that a more interesting game may be played.

11. If, due to personal fouls disqualifying players, a team should be unable to keep five men on the floor, with the consent of the opposing captain disqualified players may be returned to the floor but for any further personal fouls by such players double penalty shall be given. If, in the opinion of the umpire, such continued fouling is intentional the player shall be ruled off of the floor.

12. Teams must relinquish the floor at least two (2) minutes before the time scheduled for the next game to start. In case of a tie the game shall be played off at a later date.

13. The game is not officially won unless the report of the game—its score, the two line-ups, and interesting details—be given that same evening to the Journal-Courier. The winning team must see to this.

14. A championship series will follow the completion of league series.

15. The fee to cover the cost of the evening's game must be paid to the umpire before the game starts.

16. Valuables should not be left in the dressing room. Each manager should provide a means for caring for the valuables of his players.

17. Registration fee of $2.00, and the entry list of the squad, must be in Secretary Hermann's hands no later than Monday, Jan. 8.

Famous Billiard Player Will Be Here Tuesday

Johnny Layton

Johnny Layton, famous billiard instructor and holder of the world's three-cushion billiard title on ten different occasions will appear here on January 9, in a series of free exhibitions in connection with the National "Better Billiards" Program, which is being conducted by the National Billiard Association of America.

Layton is one of a group of seven players touring the country in the interest of billiards. He demonstrates the diamond system at three-cushion billiards as well as instructs on pocket billiards. He meets all-comers during his appearance.

Other prominent players and instructors to appear here later on this program are Willie Hoppe, world's 18.1 balkline and cushion carom champion; James Caras, Wilmington, Dela., last year's runner-up for the world's pocket billiard title; Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, a former world's champion and noted instructor; Andrew Ponzi, Philadelphia, Italian pocket billiard champion; Charles C. Peterson, St. Louis national fancy billiard shot champion; and young Robert Moore, the 16 year old star of Grand Rapids, Mich., who held the national junior title three years and remains undefeated as the national intermediate champion.

Layton will appear at the Drexel Billiard Parlors in Jacksonville, Tuesday, Jan. 9, at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Basketballs may be flying, but baseball is in the air. Pretty high in the air as yet, but it's beginning to come closer to earth. We received notification yesterday that Ray L. Doan will again conduct his baseball school at Hot Springs, Ark., beginning Feb. 15 and continuing to April 15. More than 100 persons who want to go some place in baseball attended the school last year.

Golf balls are still flying around a bit too. Especially down south and out along the Pacific coast. Harry Rubendall, who recently was married and who is serving as pro at a southern course this year, turned in a 43-37 over the Miami course yesterday for an 80. Carl McAllister, however, got in tune with the southern weather and blasted out a 66 to lead the field. Par for the lay-out is 70.

The Columbia football party, bivouacked at Tucson, Ariz., the week before the Rose Bowl game, enjoyed to the limit the breezy conversation of Dr. William John Tucker, a Dublin university graduate, professor in English at the University of Arizona. Dr. Tucker specialized in barbed comment with reference to everything and every one Californian.

"In Los Angeles," Dr. Tucker told the Columbians, "there are two kinds of weather, perfect and unsna: Los Angeles is the only place in the world where you can stand on one spot and melt, freeze and drown all in one day."

Dr. Tucker's reference to Californians as "prune pickers" amused the Columbian party.

And that reminds us of one of the gags a local sports fan yanked out after the Stanford-Columbia game. According to this fan's way of thinking, the outcome was in the nature of a "new deal." Stanford, Herbert Hoover's alma mater, naturally is dry, and Columbia, representative of F. D. Roosevelt, is wet. Considering the rainy day, who could win but the Lions, this fan queries.

Twelve times winner of the pocket billiard championship, Ralph Greenleaf amazed the pocket billiard world by his manner of losing in the recent Chicago tournament.

After losing a game to George Kelly for his first defeat in three years of championship play, Greenleaf showed up for his afternoon game, but was not in fit playing condition.

"To pool enthusiasts the spectacle was pitiful," says Time. "Greenleaf, always the well mannered sportsman, appeared for his match with Jimmy Caras in no condition to play. Apparently drunk, he loudly protested that Caras had shoved rather than shot the cue ball in making one point. The referee waved Greenleaf away. When he continued to argue, the referee disqualified him.

"Next day Greenleaf fans learned their idol had filed suit for divorce from his wife, a Eurasian vaudeville singer who calls herself Princess Nai Tai Ta. When they were first married eight years ago Mrs. Greenleaf toook a lively interest in her husband's work, wore a brown ensemble at his games for luck. At exhibition matches she also essayed to sing accompaniments to Greenleaf's fanciest shots. When they separated, Champion Greenleaf presented her with a billiard parlor in Manhattan. In Chicago last week he won his divorce after displaying a bruise on his forehead caused, he said, by an ash tray hurled by Princess Nai Tai Ta."

PRESENTS COUNTY HISTORY SOCIETY WITH WAR DATA

Mrs. Nannie Campbell Fox, of 729 West Douglas Ave., has recently given the Morgan County Historical Society a magazine, dated, July, 1918, containing an article about the work carried on in Jacksonville during the World War. The article was written by Mrs. Elizabeth Sears, 461 Fourth Avenue, New York, and includes among its pictures those of the Court House, the Public Library, and Grace Church, together with one of Mrs. Fox, who conceived the plan of the mass mothering of soldiers.

Mrs. Sears came to Jacksonville to secure first-hand information concerning the organization of Mothers of the Soldiers of Morgan County, which is believed to be the first of its kind in this country.

The idea for such an organization originated in a letter from the 21-year-old son of Mrs. Fox, and the Mothers of the Soldiers first met in the Public Library, but later, needing more room, moved to Grace Church, where they continued their work of mutual help and service.

The Morgan County Historical Society is grateful for any historical material connected with Jacksonville or Morgan County.

Mrs. Anna Caldwell, Mrs. Howard Langdon, and Miss Emily McCracken were Manchester shoppers in Jacksonville Saturday.

HUGE MIDWEST KIDNAP GROUP IS ROUNDED UP

of Police Chief Henry Eggebrecht of Bellwood. Klutas, to explain his sudden comings and goings, had told his landlord that he was a government secret service agent.

The raid in charge of Johnson started when his men entered the place first about two o'clock. There they found two men, one said by police to be wanted for bank robbery. They were sent to headquarters for questioning and the squad remained in hiding waiting the return of the gang chief.

Shortly after 5 p. m., Klutas appeared with two others. Seeing the officers he produced a .45 calibre revolver and opened fire. Police bullets cut him down in his tracks. His companions surrendered without resistance.

Chairman of employment committee—C. F. Ehnie.

Chairman of roads committee—LeRoy Craig.

Chairman of membership committee—Charles Ator.

Chaplain—H. J. Rodgers.

Board of Directors—Leslie Jackson, LeRoy Craig, Walter Schrag, and H. D. Lavery.

Delegates of the state convention at Peoria, April 7 elected were: Leo R. Eads, William M. McCarty, George Deweese, L. F. O'Donnell, D. A. Schaffnitt, Leslie Jackson and LeRoy Craig.

Alternates to state convention: James N. Conover, Leonard Acree, H. D. Lavery, Carlton R. Winks, Elmer Whalin, C. F. Ehnie and Charles Ator.

L. F. O'Donnell was selected to represent the local post at the national convention to be held in Atlantic City in May. William H. McCarty was elected alternate.

At the close of the meeting the members enjoyed an oyster stew dinner, smoker and round-table disucssion to round out an enthusiastic meeting.

GEORGE H. VANNIER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Bluffs, Jan. 6.—George H. Vannier, prominent farmer of the Bluffs vicinity, was stricken with paralysis at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon as he was returning with his wife from a trip to town. When he reached one-fourth of a mile from home he sensed a queer feeling and stopped his car. The wife summoned a neighbor, Carl Littig, who drove the car home and assisted him to his bed. Dr. M. Alvarez of Bluffs and Dr. H. W. Sears of Springfield are the attending physicians. His condition is very grave at this time.

Miss Naoma Pine left Friday night to spend the week-end with relatives in Baylis.

A Warning from the Chief of Police to the Housewives and Citizens of Jacksonville

This is a warning to beware of Strangers posing as Solicitors or Inspectors — seeking admittance to your homes. They should not be admitted until their credentials have been checked up and verified— and that you are sure they are Local people living here in Jacksonville and entitled to your consideration.

One need not be afraid of offending the honest solicitor, salesman or inspector representing a Local Business Firm—as these men will have their credentials with them — that is why they are required to carry credentials.

Do not pay Cash in advance to Strangers—on an order—in many cases the customer has never received the merchandise — nor has any refund been made of the cash — down-payment.

Do not Cash Checks for Strangers or issue a check as a deposit on an order as often times these have been "altered" and later cashed by a third and innocent party.

It is better to be Safe than Sorry—be sure you know who the stranger is at your door before allowing him to enter your home.

In case you are suspicious —Phone the Police at once — Phone No. 18—Do this at once — as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times.

High pressure and Free Gift artists have been working the resident district of Jacksonville recently offering something free as a means of gaining admittance in to the homes. In most instances there is nothing to be given away free—do not be lured by this high pressure type salesman.

Protect Yourself—ask for Identifications of Every Stranger at your door, as often times strangers without reliable credentials are the "spotters" for professional criminals — and according to police records lack of caution on the part of the householders has often times resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

FRANK KILORAN,
Chief of Police.

Why buy your Hosiery from Peddlers?

COMPARE VALUES before you "pay down that small deposit" to the silver tongued salesman---who knows his stuff. DO YOU KNOW that in most instances the price you pay for hosiery bought at your front or back door is more by the single pair or by the box---than your own merchant would ask you?

You Are Told In a Very Convincing Manner by these peddlers that you are saving on the purchase price of these hose because they come Direct-from-the-Mills-to-you---thus saving you the wholesalers and the retailers profit---and in some cases you are led to believe there are only two steps from Growers-to-you.

But these Peddlers OMIT telling you of These Facts which are NOT shown in the "cleverly prepared chart" but which Are Very Decidedly a part of Direct Selling Organization Expense.

THE SALESMAN is paid his profit from 15 per cent to 50 per cent which as a rule is the initial deposit on your order,---in addition to this deposit if he averages a certain number of sales he is given a bonus on his earnings of 10 per cent to 25 per cent all of which the customer pays.

THE BRANCH MANAGER comes in for 10 per cent to 20 per cent on the orders taken in the territory under his supervision. In many instances the Branch Office Rent is paid by the main office---which goes in to the price of your purchase.
Due to the many changes of Branch Managers there are unavoidable expenses which must be paid by the main office---and which are added to the price of the hose.
Office stationery, printed matter, etc.---are expenses never mentioned to you.

THE DIVISION MANAGER or District Manager is paid his traveling expenses, in addition to receiving a salary or commission on all business in his territory. Some direct-selling-organizations maintain Sectional Sales Managers whose traveling expenses, salary or commission must be paid.

IN ADDITION to the above some Direct Sellers pay Recruiting Managers---Sales Investigators---Sales Promoters---Home-Office Representatives---Advertising Specialists. All these men must be paid a salary and their expenses. Are you told about these?

THE HUGE AMOUNTS SPENT for Advertising is NOT mentioned by the well trained Bell Ringer. Tremendous Sums Are Spent in the conducting of Testing Schools---to devise "decoys" to better enable the Peddler to secure your attention.

SPECIAL PRIZES---Cash---Watches---Clothing---even Automobiles must be added in to the price on the order blank.

CONVENTIONS---Special Sales Meetings---costing enormous amounts must be figured in the cost of the hosiery. Freight and cartage expense thru different stages of manufacturing is necessary.

Do Not Be Misled by "THE GUARANTEE"

which is most attractively pictured to you by the Clever Salesman as a Pair Free, etc.

Some of the leading Hosiery Peddlers have gained their momentum of business on this pair free guarantee—but this Guarantee Has Been REDUCED—until now—the dissatisfied customer is obliged to answer a most lengthy and EMBARRASSING QUESTIONNAIRE in order to receive any consideration, which was assured her at the time of her purchase.

It is not impossible that eventually ONLY the toes—heels—and tops will be guaranteed—and as a rule they are of materials other than silk.

HOW MANY TIMES has the salesman called back as he promised, when taking your order to pick up your unsatisfactory hosiery and make an adjustment? How long before you received any consideration?

Buy YOUR Hosiery From The Following Firms And Be Assured of Satisfaction

BUYING from these firms assures you of the highest type of service, with the best possible quality for the money spent.

ALSO you see what you are buying and are better able to make satisfactory selections.

AGAIN, should there be anything wrong, or should you decide that you wish to exchange a purchase, the fault is corrected or the exchange made quickly and cheerfully.

AND in buying from these home merchants you are giving a fair deal to the business people of the community who furnish employment to hundreds of our citizens thereby making YOUR city a nicer place in which to live.

DUN-BRADSTREET BUSINESS REPORT

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Dun and Bradstreet reports a sharp contraction in business failures in the United States during 1933.

For the entire year, defaults numbered 20,307 compared with 31,822 in 1932 and 28,285 in 1931. The total was the smallest for any year since 1923 when insolvencies numbered 18,718.

The monthly record, the report says, shows that reverses in business concerns in January last year were only slightly under those for that month in the two preceding years. There was some recession from month to month until the middle of the year and in September the low mark was reached. A slight increase appeared for October and November, followed by a renewal of the decline in December.

For the three separate classifications into which the insolvency record is separated, the agency says, the most marked improvement in the 1933 record appears for the large trading centers. Failures in manufacutring lines were also greatly reduced and the same was true of the third class, embracing other industrial concerns, largely brokers and agents.

SLIGHT SAG IN STOCK MARKET

By John L. Cooley
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Stocks were in the doldrums today, finding no positive influences to stimulate activity one way or the other. The averages took a slight sag, but net changes were mostly limited to fractions. Volume totaled 461,920 shares.

Motor issues traded briskly coincident with the opening of the annual automobile show here. Chrysler, the most active stock, again declined, this time slightly more than a point; just recently it topped its 1933 high and the heavy turnover suggests profit-taking by professionals and others. General Motors also turned over briskly easing for a minor loss. Nash, Studebaker, Hupp and Hudson were steady.

In the bond market, U. S. Governments extended their week's losses by moderate amounts and were rather active for a Saturday. Off the stock exchange, the feature of investment security dealings was a sharp runup for Home Loan Corp., 4's whose principal the government is considering guaranteeing. The old Federal Land Bank issues also took a spurt.

Wall Street's lassitude was accompanied by the usual explanation that the market hesitated to do much in view of possible near-term developments of a monetary nature.

Holiday influences in trade are wearing off and a clearer picture of what the first 1934 quarter holds will soon be available. Automobile production has been held back by delays in getting out new models, but when these difficulties are completely overcome a pickup is anticipated. This will mean, of course, better business for the industries which supply material, notably the steel plants. The latter, in addition, have a sizeable volume of rail and trackage orders, specifications on which should soon be coming along; also, the season for an expansion of public works activity is not far distant.

Railroad shares were fairly firm today, though not very active. Among industrials, some metals improved slightly. Allied Chemical and DuPont yielded around a point, but steels were steady. American Telephone, U. S. Steel, American Can, General Electric and Case, among numerous others, finished unchanged or nearly so. Transamerica was steady and fairly active as dividends were resumed with a 12½ cent payment.

GRAIN PRICES MUCH HIGHER

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Backbone developed in grain prices today, late reports of dust storms in Kansas and Texas counting to a noticeable extent as a stimulus to buyers.

More or less purchasing of grains was also associated with talk that the United States government programme for borrowing huge sums of money and for expenditures on a big scale must be accepted as inflationary, and should result in higher prices for commodities. Considerable attention, too, was given to strength of domestic cash markets, as practically all contract grain is now selling at May prices or a few cents over.

Wheat closed firm at around the day's top, ½-⅞ above yesterday's finish, corn ⅜-½ up, oats unchanged to ⅛ higher, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 17 cents.

Upturns in grain values were in the face of the fact that trade was the smallest in many months. At times, this curtailment actually served to lift prices. In particular, such was the case at the outset, when the wheat pit was almost bare of offerings, and buyers had to bid the market up before moderate purchase orders on hand could be filled.

Word of dust storms southwest gave special emphasis to the fact that inadequacy of moisture in domestic wheat territory southwest had not been relieved, and that the weekly forecast was not regarded as promising. In addition, primary receipts of wheat were decidedly lacking in volume. Shipping sales to interior millers showed a slight enlargement, and unofficial estimates were current that supplies of domestic wheat at present totaled about 150,000,000 bushels less than at this time last year.

Corn and oats owed their firmness to scantiness both of arrivals of corn here and of offerings from the country. Today's receipts of corn in Chicago, 37 cars, amounted to less than the usual requirements of a single local industry.

Provisions ruled irregular, responsive to the course of hog values.

AMERICAN DOLLAR YIELDS SLIGHTLY

The dollar yielded slightly in foreign exchange markets yesterday in restricted trading of a routine nature.

At London the American unit finished at $5.11¼ to the pound sterling compared with an overnight quotation of $5.12⅛, and in New York sterling closed at $5.11¼ up 1 cent.

In Paris the dollar gained 8 centimes at an equivalent of 6.13 cents to the franc. In New York the French unit was virtually unchanged at 6.14½ cents.

In terms of the franc at its final New York rate the dollar was valued at approximately 63.78 per cent of parity compared with 63.83 Friday and 63.81 a month ago.

Based on the unchanged prices of domestic gold of $34.06 an ounce the dollar had a theoretical value of about 60.68 per cent of parity.

SWINE PRICES CLOSE HIGHER

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Hog prices closed at the week's highest prices today despite an increase of 25@40c, both here and at most of the leading markets.

Trading was fully steady with Friday's best time with good to choice butchers selling readily at $3.65 to $3.75, the latter the top. The close was 25 to 40 cents above last Saturday's close. Trade was fairly active. Packers had 14,000 direct out of the fresh supply of 17,000. Shippers had orders for 500 head and all interests took enough so that the holdover was only 1,000 head.

Both cattle and sheep were nominally steady for the day and generally higher than a week ago. Fat native lambs sold the highest during the week that had been touched since last August and fat ewes at $4 were higher than at any time since April, 1932.

PLAN WOLF HUNT IN ARCADIA COMMUNITY

Wolves have been seen frequently this winter on farms west of Arcadia and a number of citizens of that neighborhood are talking up a wolf hunt. Leaders in the plan have decided to wait until the first snow fall to stage the hunt, so that tracking can be accomplished easier.

A pair of wolves have been sighted several times 2 miles west of Arcadia. It is believed they have a den in the neighborhood.

It has been several years since Morgan county witnessed a wolf hunt. On one occasion a number of hunters with hounds bagged seven wolves east of here in the Orleans and Pisgah neighborhoods.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT

© 1933 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married with a simple ceremony on the same day that LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS marry in New York's most fashionable church. Gypsy and Lila are childhood friends. The Weavers spend their honeymoon in Tom's shack on a Long Island beach and the Blisses go to Europe.

The first night Tom and Gypsy spend in their New York apartment VERA GRAY, whom Tom describes as "an old girl friend," telephones. Tom asks her to lunch to meet Gypsy, but Gypsy, who teaches in a settlement house, can't get away from work. She is wretched at the thought of his lunching with another woman.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

IT was quite different, starting off in the morning, from life in Blue Hills. There Clytie had always had Gypsy's breakfast ready and waiting. Here she had to rise half an hour earlier than Tom in order to squeeze oranges, set the table and make coffee. Gypsy was still far from expert in these matters, although Tom praised her inordinately.

This morning a slight stiffness brooded over the little household. Gypsy flew about, measuring, straining, pouring. Although she was studiedly cheerful, her heart was sore. It wasn't fair—it wasn't fair . . . she kept telling herself, that Tom should be lunching today, their first day in the new life, at the end of the honeymoon, with another girl. Men were different, there was no doubt about it. Now, she wouldn't have thought of making an engagement that did not include him.

The fact that he had meant to include her—had, in fact, blundered into the engagement because he hadn't known, manfashion, how to get out of it, did not mitigate the offense, in Gypsy's mind. She didn't reason about the matter . . . she merely felt. And the sum total of her feeling was injury.

She wouldn't have time to wash up the breakfast things, that much was certain. It was 8:15 by the time they sat down to breakfast. She had to be downtown by nine. Tom left at 20 minutes past eight, with a hurried embrace and a backward anxious look. Poor Tom! He didn't know what it was all about, Gypsy thought, resentfully.

She took special pains with her appearance, with mental eye on the unknown Miss Vera Gray. Everything she wore was new, from the crisp blouse to the small shining shoes—all part of her modest trousseau. The other girls who taught at the Settlement — Helen Marr and Blanche Jordan—would be curious about such matters and Gypsy did not want to disappoint them.

She hated leaving the apartment thus, at sixes and sevens, beds unmade, the kitchen in confusion, but there was no choice. Maybe Tom was right and she would have to get someone in to help.

THE morning had turned uncommonly warm, one of those late, lingering Indian summer days which bewilder the city-dweller with their languor. The subway was hot and crowded. Gypsy, packed between two perspiring garment-workers from the Bronx, was conscious of wilting freshness. She felt less and less like a bride, and more and more like a harried breadwinner. "I'm glad Mother can't see me now," was her irrelevant thought. At least, from Blue Hills, she had ridden in more comfortable fashion, on train and ferry. Oh, well, you couldn't have everything. You had to pay for the privilege of living in New York City.

"My dear, that's the best-looking outfit!" Her colleagues greeted her with smiles and handclasps. "We've missed you," said Miss Marr, an eye-glassed girl from Randolph-Macon. "We've certainly missed you, honey. It's mighty nice to see you."

This part of it wasn't so bad. She forgot the subway. Her pupils had eager dark faces and grubby hands, but the work was so interesting, you overlooked the dirt and saw only the eagerness. She plugged into her classes . . . weaving for the tots . . . modeling in clay . . . chalk-drawing . . . She was surprised to look up at the clock and discover it was half-past eleven.

With the approach of lunch-hour came the thought of Tom's rendezvous. Her heart sank. Why did she feel so miserable about it? It was nonsense—utter nonsense. Tom had chosen her out of all the world. What did it matter if he lunched today with another woman? Thus reason argued, but the sense of injury persisted.

"You going to have something sent in, honey?" Miss Marr stuck her neatly coiffed head around the door-jamb.

Gypsy, surprised in her reverie, said vaguely that she didn't know—she hadn't thought about eating. She wasn't, she added, a bit hungry.

"Well, you'd better have a bite with us," Miss Marr told her. "We're having chicken sandwiches with Russian dressing and tea, from that place across the road."

She hated leaving the apartment thus, beds unmade, the kitchen in confusion, but there was no choice.

"I don't know," Gypsy was beginning, doubtfully. She couldn't, she thought, eat a single bite. There was a lump in her throat. Food would certainly choke her . . . But just then Blanche Jordan called down the hall:

"Telephone for you, Gypsy. Think it's the best beau."

She ran, forgetting her new dignity.

"Yes, it's me." She couldn't help making her voice small and injured, like a child's.

"Darling," Tom said. "I've been worrying about you. I feel rotten about this. You know I don't want to hurt you. I just didn't know how to get out of the date . . ."

"It's all right." It really was, now. Bring on your vampires. Bring on your Vera Grays. She was equal to all of them. He loved her.

She went back to the others, her face shining.

"I hope you've saved me a big husky sandwich," she cried, running into the teacher's room. "I'm famished."

Miss Marr and Miss Jordan exchanged sly, amused spinsterish glances over her head. So they've kissed and made up, the glances said.

USUALLY Gypsy's duties at the settlement house were ended at four o'clock, but today she was detained for almost an hour, catching up with letters, seeing parents who happened to stop in. She had planned to shop for dinner on the way home. None of this night-after-night tearoom dining for the young Weavers, she had announced, very firmly. It was half-past five when she got off the subway, feeling draggled, hot and tired. Valiantly she turned in at the little corner market and bought chops, vegetables for a salad and peas. Next door she added a bag of rolls to her collection. She would, she decided, have to manage her affairs better in future. She would telephone an order before she left, and find the supplies awaiting her at home. She would make menu lists for a week ahead . . .

A church clock struck six as she reached the apartment building. She longed for a shower, clean clothes, time to rest before dinner. Clytie had had a delightful habit of drawing a bath just before her arrival at the house in Blue Hills . . .

Now she would have to rush, to have things fixed before Tom got home. She didn't want to be a bedraggled, home-keeping wife. She wanted him to think her always pretty and glamorous. From where she stood, this looked quite a large order.

As she slipped her key into the lock, she was visualizing the scene which would spread before her. There would be a pile of sticky dishes. There would be two beds to make. Yesterday's papers still lay about. She braced her shoulders, and the door flew open.

"Why, darling!"

TOM was there before her. Over his shoulder she saw a spick and span kitchen. The living room was in exquisite order. There were even some fresh chrysanthemums in a little vase.

"What on earth . . . ?"

His kiss silenced her. He was taking her bundles. Behind him, in the gloom, an aproned figure loomed.

"This is Dinah, Mrs. Weaver, ma'am," Tom said, gravely. "Dinah's going to clean up for us every day, fix the things for dinner and whatever else you like." White teeth gleamed in a black face. Dinah's apron was spotless.

"But Tom," said Gypsy, following him into the living room. "How on earth did you do it? Where did you find her?"

He radiated the pride of the efficient male.

"I came home early," he said, "and when I saw what a state the place was in and realized what it would mean to you every night, I scared up the superintendent and he sent Dinah around."

"Won't it cut into our budget?" Gypsy wanted to know.

Tom waved this aside. Dinah, he said, would charge them $5 a week for part time work—and she was glad to get it.

Wearily Gypsy tossed the smart little hat on the daybed and fluffed out her hair.

"Well, that's fine," she said. "And now I must see about dinner."

Tom restrained her.

"She'll get dinner tonight—didn't I tell you? Three nights a week—that was the arrangement I made."

"Darling, you're wonderful," Gypsy breathed.

"You're to rest until it's ready," commanded the wizard of affairs, masterfully. "And afterwards you're to look your prettiest, because we're going to have callers."

Gypsy stared at him. His manner was a shade too casual. Her suspicions were aroused.

"Not . . . not . . ." She refused to say the name.

"Yes, Vera's dashing in to see us," Tom told her with hardihood. "She's dying to meet you."

Bluffs Youth Hurt by Shot is in Hospital Here; Mayor Is Held

Bluffs, Ill., Jan. 6.—(Special)—Hubert Gregory, 18, a farmer residing near Naples, was shot through the right hand and hip about 11 o'clock tonight, while watching a fist-fight between two boys, on Route 100, in the south part of Bluffs. Mayor Fred E. Chapman, is alleged to have fired the shot. Gregory was taken to Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville, where he was given surgical treatment by Dr. Frank A. Norris.

According to witnesses to the shooting, a group of about twenty boys had gathered in front of the Gulf Oil Station when a fist fight started. Mayor Chapman rushed to the scene to break up the fight, and during the melee his pistol was discharged, the bullet passing thru Gregory's hand and entering his right hip, fracturing the leg. Mayor Chapman stated that the shooting was entirely accidental.

Gregory was given medical attention in Bluffs, and was immediately placed in an automobile and rushed to the Jacksonville hospital. It is not believed that his wounds are serious.

Sheriff Harry Montgomery of Winchester was notified and came to Bluffs and placed Mayor Chapman under arrest. A warrant had been issued charging the mayor with assault with attempt to kill.

Chapman was taken to Winchester and is now a prisoner in the Scott county jail.

Mayor Chapman was arrested at his home, having returned there following the shooting.

ACTIVITIES OF RED CROSS ARE TALKED AT MEET

Monthly Meeting of Newly Elected Directors Held Saturday

A report of the activities of the Morgan County Red Cross was made at a meeting of the chapter directors last night by Miss Alma Mackness, acting secretary. Present at the meeting were E. J. Henderson, chairman; H. J. Rodgers, Dr. David Reid, Rev. C. H. Thrall, Mrs. H. J Rodgers, Mrs Lillian I. Danskin, F. A. Robinson, C. T. Mackness, Miss Grace Carter and Miss Lillian Havenhill. Miss Mackness' report follows in part:

December
Total Number of Cases	121
Service	121
Information only	0
Ex-Service Men, World War	74
Civil and Spanish-American	7
Regular Army and Civilian	40

Problems Presented

Twenty-three disabled World War Veterans received various kinds of assistance pertaining to their pension claims. Numerous affidavits were secured from physicians, comrades, employers and friends of these ex-service men. Three appeals were made in old service connected claims, as the monthly payments have been discontinued because of presumptive ratings or disabilities being less than ten per cent. Nine new claims were filed.

Fifteen ex-service men received help of different kinds relative to hospitalization. One claim was filed for admission of a greatly disabled World War Veteran to a Veterans' Administration Hospital for treatment. Two applications were made for admission of a Spanish-American War Veteran and a World War Veteran to the National Soldiers' Home for care. One application was filed for the admission of a World War Veteran to a State Soldiers' Home. One World War Veteran was admitted to a National Soldiers' Home and one World War Veteran was admitted to a State Soldiers' Home. Nine ex-service men are confined in State Hospitals, State and National Soldiers' Homes, and Veterans Administration Hospital, who received some kind of assistance.

Thirteen disabled ex-service men or some member of their families received help in securing necessary medical treatment or examinations.

The relatives of a deceased World War Veteran are receiving much assistance in securing the settlement of this veteran's small estate, in securing the payment of the Adjusted Service Certificate due the heirs of this veteran, in appointing an administrator for the veteran's estate, and in appointing a conservator for the wife of this veteran.

Relatives of a deceased World War Veteran were given help in filing a burial claim, in securing the settlement of the Adjusted Compensation Claim due the beneficiaries of this veteran's claim, in making an application for a Government Headstone, in securing the payment of the accrued disability allowance due the veteran at the time of his death, and in making arrangements for the personal effects of this veteran to be sent to relatives, which has been left in a Government hospital where this veteran died.

The conservator of an incompetent World War Veteran was given help in complying the annual report of the conservator's for the consideration of the Veterans' Administration.

One Civil War Veteran's Case received assistance. The widow of a deceased veteran requested help in securing an increase in her monthly pension payments.

Six Spanish-American War Veterans' cases received help. A greatly disabled veteran was given assistance in making an application for his admission to the State Soldiers' Home, and emergency relief was recommended for this veteran, since his monthly pension payments had been greatly reduced. The administrator of the estate of a deceased veteran is receiving further help in securing the settlement of a minor's pension claim for a son of the veteran, and in securing the setlement of the burial claim.

Two Regular Army veteran's cases received assistance. Both of these veterans requested assistance in assembling required evidence in support of their pension claims.

Thirty-seven Civilian Cases received attention. The four transient cases received various kinds of help. They were all disabled World War Veterans.

The American Legion Auxiliary purchased gloves for the school age children, stockings for the children under school age, and socks and handkerchiefs for the children out of school for 119 children of 31 needy World War Veterans' families as Christmas gifts, through the recommendation of this office, which was a commendable expenditure. Christmas baskets were recommended for six needy ex-service men's families.

E. L. Kinney, who very willing donated his services, completed the audit of the Red Cross Funds for the period beginning April 21, 1926 and ending November 30, 1933, which is greatly appreciated.

200 braille books were received by the students at the Illinois School for the Blind from Junior Red Cross Organizations all over the state as Christmas gifts to the pupils. The students at the Illinois School for the Deaf have enrolled in the Junior Red Cross, which is distinctly an educational program.

A Senior Red Cross Life Saving Emblem was ordered from National Headquarters for a Senior Member of the Life Saving Corps.

GLASGOW MAN IS BADLY INJURED IN EXPLOSION

Paul Howard is Brought To Hospital Here After Accidental Blast

Winchester, Jan. 6.—(Special)—Paul Howard and Lawrence McQuire, both of Glasgow, were injured, Howard seriously, at Glasgow this afternoon when a charge of dynamite which they had placed in rock to be blasted at the Glasgow quarry, exploded before the men left the scene of operations. Howard was rushed to Jacksonville in the Danner ambulance of this city, and was reported to be in a serious condition at Our Saviour's hospital.

Howard and McQuire were working together at the quarry, and had just lighted a fuse to a heavy charge of dynamite. The charge exploded before the men were able to get out of the danger zone. Howard was caught in a rock slide, and McQuire was cut about the face by flying rock particles. Howard was seriously injured about the legs. He was reported as resting comfortably at the hospital.

Howard was caught between two large rocks, which had to be moved before he could be freed. He was in considerable pain all the time.

Workmen blamed a faulty fuse for the accident. Both men have had considerable experience in handling dynamite, it was said. They were employed by the county in preparing rock for the rock crusher located about a mile and a half south of Glasgow.

CITY ATTORNEY TO MEET C. W. A. GROUP IN COOK

City Attorney Orville E. Foreman, will leave for Chicago today, where on Monday he will look after some legal business for the city.

While in Chicago Attorney Foreman will call at the offices of the Civil Works Administration to ascertain what is delaying the approval of several street resurfacing projects in this city.

Mayor Wainright and other city officials contemplated the resurfacing of West Lafayette avenue, South East street, the Public Square and South Church. These projects were sent to the C. W. A., and approval of the South Church street project was received. The other three however were not approved and Attorney Foreman will endeavor to find out what is causing the delay.

The city officials intend to resurface the above streets with asphalt, the city to furnish the material and the government the workers.

SOVIET FICTION IS DISCUSSED AT A. A. U. W. MEETING

Mrs. Harold C. Jaquith Talks About Russia at Saturday Meet

Mrs. Harold C. Jaquith spoke on Soviet Fiction before a group of 200 members and guests of the A. A. U. W. at the first open meeting of the year Saturday afternoon in Baxter Hall. Tracing through conditions of the old regime in Russia and briefly outlining the classics of those days which are available to the American reading public in translation, she devoted the main portion of her talk to present day writings in Russia, few of which are found in translation.

"Modern Russian literature falls into three groups," said the speaker, "first, political, second, propagandistic, such as the 'Russian Primer' published under government control, and lastly, fiction." Modern fiction is a reflection of Soviet Russia minimizing the individual, home, love, etc., and exalting the machine and the mass. There are almost no heroes and heroines in Russian novels. An ever popular topic is the struggle between age and youth and the irreconcilable views held by each.

Mrs. Jaquith enlivened her talk with excerpts of her own translations. A school of realism grew up after the war with Andre Bely, the poet, and Renizov, the novelist, as leaders. Since the war, innumerable writers have produced works. Romonoff, Tolstoy, Boris Pilnyak, Leonid Leonof, Nikitin, Seiffulina are among the prominent contemporary writers quoted by Mrs. Jaquith.

The unusual charm and vivacity of the speaker and thorough and intimate knowledge of her subject made the talk of more than usual interest. She graciously responded to the many questions which followed the formal address.

The Russian atmosphere was further carried out in the unusually appointed tea table set in Baxter lounge. Mrs. Garm Norbury was in charge of arrangements. Dean Roma Hawkins presided at the table. Preceding the address, Mrs. Francis Plouer sang a group of three numbers.

Dean Clara B. Williams presided at the meeting.

Capps Plant Reopening To Re-Employ Hundreds; Agreement Is Signed

Nearly four hundred persons, who are now unemployed, will go to work within ten days as the result of an agreement signed here Saturday by Harry M. Capps, president of the J. Capps & Sons clothing manufacturing plant and Sam Levin of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union. The agreement was unanimously adopted at a mass meeting of Capps employes held at the American Legion Memorial Home yesterday morning. The factory has been closed since September 26, 1933.

The agreement was read by Judge James M. Barnes, chairman of the NRA Compliance Board, and was submitted for the approval of the employes. A viva voce vote which could have been heard for some distance made sure of its approval. It means that some 380 Capps employes will return to work, and that the city of Jacksonville will once more see the results of good factory payrolls.

Text of Agreement

The agreement between the company and its employes reads as follows:

"The Local Compliance Board of Jacksonville, Illinois, being greatly interested in the local situation caused by the closing of the plant of J. Capps & Sons, Ltd., on September 26th—both from the standpoint of the throwing out of employment of some 380 of their employees and from the standpoint of the interest of our citizens in the various problems presented by this situation and also from the desire to bring about a situation whereby J. Capps & Sons will be able to resume operations—our board has had a full hearing and explanation of the causes leading up to the closing of the plant, the difficulties presented by the shortening of hours and increasing wages under the Clothing Code and the resulting greatly increased costs and selling prices of their product and consequent difficulty of sale of said products at such increased prices; and also in view of labor complications due to the activities of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in the community—we have secured the agreement of the parties at interest to compromise and reach a solution of the difficulties presented and we now recommend to them the following terms and settlement:

I. All workers employed by J. Capps & Sons at the time of the closing of the plant shall be reemployed with the reopening of the plant, section by section and it is hoped that within ten days all will be back at work.

II. There shall be no strikes, stoppages or lockouts for a period of one year.

III. That Section 7 of the National Recovery Act shall be observed by J. Capps & Sons, Ltd.

IV. That all provisions of the Clothing Code of Fair Competition shall be observed by J. Capps & Sons, Ltd.

V. Should any dispute arise between the firm and the union or between the firm and any employee, such dispute shall be settled by arbitration in the following manner: A representative of the firm and a representative of the employee shall endeavor to settle the dispute. If they fail to agree, then the matter shall be referred by them for a decision to a third disinterested and impartial person of their joint selection and should they be unable to agree on said third party, then Professor Robert M. Hutchins, Chairman of the Regional Labor Board, or his nominee shall act as such third party and the decision of said third party shall be final and binding upon all the parties. It is the intent of the parties that any hearings or proceedings that may be necessary in the operation of this clause, should if at all possible be held in Jacksonville. Should there be any compensation necessary for the third party, such compensation shall be paid jointly by the parties.

VI. The full power of discharge and discipline remains with the employer, but it is understood that the power should be exercised with justice and with regard to the reasonable rights of the employees. If an employee feels that he or she has been unjustly discharged, he or she may appeal to the tribunal provided for, which shall have the power to review the case and its decision shall be binding on the parties.

Dated at Jacksonville, Illinois, the 6th day of January, 1934.

JUDGE JAMES M. BARNES,
Chairman of Local N. R. A. Compliance Board, Jacksonville, Illinois.

The above and foregoing recommendation of settlement is hereby accepted by us the 6th day of January, 1934.

SAMUEL LEVIN,
Representative of Employees who are members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America,

HARRY M. CAPPS, Pres.,
J. Capps & Sons, Ltd.

Union Official Talks

Judge Barnes called the meeting to order and introduced Sam Levin, the manager of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, and members of the Regional Labor Board. He reviewed the situation in the country which led to the measures for recovery adopted by Congress, which, he pointed out, ushered in a new era.

"And we are facing a new era here in Jacksonville," he continued, "a new era for J. Capps & Sons and for you as workers. In coming to Jacksonville, we had only honorable intentions. We wish to do good and to do no harm to anyone. We have all found that industry prospers only when it considers the mutual well being of all concerned in it. During the past few weeks we have come to feel that Mr. Capps and the others associated with the Capps company desire the same thing.

"We are all going to work together for the good of everyone. In order for you to earn a livlihood, you must be employed. Your employment depends on good business, profitable business for J. Capps & Sons. We are interested in the success of the company, as well as in your well being. We are assuring Mr. Capps of our co-operation; we pledge it. All that is past is forgotten, and we are going to start a new day for both the company and for you."

H. M. Capps is Heard

H. M. Capps spoke for the company, giving a statement of the conditions which brought about the closing of the plant. He said in part:

"Sept. 26 will always be to me a date that marked a crisis in our business. We honestly believed then that our best interests depended on the closing of the plant, and felt that we must either close or continue on the downward road. The new era, the codes, business conditions had given us problems thru which we could not see, and for which we could find no solution

"Many things have happened since that date. Today we have arrived at a point where we feel that we can continue in business. Our problems have received sympathetic consideration, and we believe a solution has been reached. We have had many conferences with Mr. Levin, and our relations have been pleasant. Both sides have spoken their views plainly, but with good feeling. I am quite willing to forget what has passed, and to make a new start.

"We had had most generous cooperation from many groups in working out the agreement which will be presented for your approval. We are recommending that you adopt that agreement. The local Compliance Board has given us much attention and thought. Citizens of the community, thru the Chamber of Commerce, have worked untiringly to work out plans for opening the plant. Perhaps no one has been more interested and more untiring in his efforts than our Congressman Henry T. Rainey.

Credits Rainey With Help

"Mr. Rainey has taken up our problems with both Mr. Whiteside and Gen. Johnson of the NRA. That organization has sent here its representative, Mr. Greenburg, who has been in our conferences for several days and has aided with valuable suggestions and advice. To him also and to the NRA must go our appreciation."

Immediately before the reading of the agreement, Judge Barnes introduced Robert Capps, who greeted the workers with this statement:

"I see the members of our sales force here. They have their grips all packed, ready to go out and sell goods for us to make. I see no reason for holding them back any longer. Do you?"

These words were answered by a roar of applause, and no one present could doubt the enthusiasm of the Capps employes who have been idle for three months. Mr. Capps announced that the preliminary plans would be pushed rapidly and that the plant would set about meeting the conditions and difficulties incident to reopening. Within ten days the Capps factory will be in full operation, and employes will start back at once, going into action section by section, as the various processes of manufacture in the big plant get under way.

MARRIAGES IN SCOTT COUNTY ARE LESS IN 1933

Food Relief Depot Organized in Winchester; Other News Notes

Winchester, Jan. 6.—The number of marriage licenses issued in Scott county, showed a decrease in the year of 1933. Seventy-eight licenses to wed were issued in 1932 and only sixty seven were issued in 1933.

Towards the end of the year it seems as if it were known the year was behind the former year, as in December eleven licenses were issued, five being written out for applicants the last week of the year. April was the low month with only two.

One of the outstanding facts though is that a license was issued to a negro couple. It is believed that this was the first negro license ever issued in Scott county.

Ten of the couples were married in other towns of the county while fifty-seven of the marriage ceremonies were performed in the county seat.

N. L. Hamilton, local justice of the peace, was exceedingly popular as a performer of marriage vows as he married thirty-two couples during the year.

Persons as far away as Colorado came to Scott county to be united in marriage.

News Notes

The Food Depot of the Government Relief work has been organized and will distribute food stuff to needy families in Scott county. F. M. Fitzgerald of Winchester has been appointed Superintendent of the Depot. Vernon Nortrup of Bluffs is Relief Clerk.

The Food Depot is located in the Court house in the room formerly occupied by the late James Andell. It is probable that they may take a room in the Court house.

C. E. Conley of Peoria, a traveling representative of the Government Relief was here Friday conferring about the work to be done in this county.

The Federal allowance for Scott county for January is $500. The Federal surplus will be apportioned to the county use in the relef work.

The employees of Heinsfurther's store enjoyed an evening of playing cards at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCauley. Otto Henry and Mrs. Charles Burdick won the high honors and James Lazenby and Miss May Wilson received low honors.

Plans are being made for C. W. A. schools in the county. There will be a nursery class for children of preschool age and classes in adult education for those over high school age. Several unemployed teachers or qualified instructors will make up the faculty.

Persons interested in these classes may consult Miss Alice Mudd, the county superintendent of schools, for plans. The school centers will be in Winchester and Bluffs. Other school centers will be used if the public demands it.

The board of education for high school and grades 13 submitted applications for these projects and the Illinois Emergency Relief commission of Scott county selects the teachers.

Miss Mudd was in Bluffs Friday afternoon conferring with the school board there concerning the plans. She has been busy in Winchester also. Announcements concerning the opening of the school will be made later.

A creamery station has been opened up in the Fred Markillie building under the management of Merrill McLamar of Jacksonville.

More county office aspirants have announced their candidacies. Miss Alice I. Mudd, and Mrs. P. H. Vannier of Bluffs have announced their candadacies for county superintendent of schools subject to the decision of the Democratic voters at the primary election.

Harry E. Gidney, present assessor and treasurer, has announced his candidacy for sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peak were host and hostess to a number of friends at their home Saturday evening. The evening was spent in playing bridge.

Members of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met with Mrs. John Coultas Friday afternoon.
